

Disarmament is Eventual: Stassen

Returns from Unsuccessful Talks in London

Sees Agreement Because of Dangers Of Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, U. S. disarmament negotiator, insisted today that a first step disarmament agreement eventually will be reached because of the dangers of nuclear war.

Returning to Washington from the unsuccessful talks in London, Stassen said the next move is up to Russia.

"If the Russians would express willingness to stop production of fissionable materials for weapons uses," he said, "then I believe we could move on to a first step agreement on disarmament."

Stassen emphasized that the break up of the London talks was "a matter of a recess, not a collapse."

"It is a matter of an interval, not a breakoff," he said.

I believe the day will come when we will reach agreement on a first-step disarmament plan. The nations of the world know nuclear war would be a great loss for everyone."

Stassen has been negotiating in London with the Russians for more than five months.

To Report to Dulles

He returned home to report to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on failure of the five-nation United Nations subcommittee to work out a first step agreement. The subcommittee, he said, will now report to the 12-nation disarmament commission at the United Nations.

On other points, Stassen:

—Rejected as "unfounded" charges by the Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda that the United States sabotaged the London talks. On the contrary, Stassen said the United States had negotiated "seriously, patiently, and persistently on a very complicated subject."

—Declined to say whether he would favor a personal appearance by President Eisenhower before the U. N. General Assembly to seek disarmament progress. But he recalled that the President had made such an appearance in 1953 when he outlined his atom-for-peace proposal.

—Predicted that there will be "very strong support" in the United Nations for the American-Allied 11-point disarmament plan put forward at London on Aug. 29.

Stassen said that the London negotiations did bring out agreement in principle on suspending nuclear testing for two years, reducing armed forces and other points although there was no formal agreement.

He gave an evasive answer when asked if he plans to quit the search for disarmament and enter Pennsylvania politics.

He said he has declared a "complete moratorium on politics" and his immediate plans are to report to Dulles.

John Chase, 48, Former Resident, Dies in Chicago; Rites Tuesday

John Chase, 48, former Harrisburg resident, son of Mrs. Martha Chase and the late Mike Chase, RFD 2, Harrisburg, died in Chicago Saturday morning. The body will be received in Carbondale at noon and will lie in state at the Turner funeral home, Harrisburg, at 2 p. m. today. The funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Tuesday in the funeral home with Rev. W. E. Hanagan, Eldorado, officiating.

Mr. Chase is survived, in addition to his mother, by his sons, Paul Edward Chase and Frank John Chase, Chicago; his brother, Joe Chase, Chicago and his sisters, Mrs. Anna Daluga, Chicago, Mrs. Tillie Sikec, Riverside and Mrs. Helen Turner, Carrier Mills.

IKE WARNS RUSSIA ON SYRIA — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and State Department troubleshooter Loy Henderson, right, are shown at the White House, where they met with President Eisenhower to confer on the Syrian situation. A statement released in wake of the conference by Secretary Dulles contained a stern warning to Russia by the President not to "press Syria into an act of aggression" against her neighbors, and reaffirmed Mr. Eisenhower's intention to carry out the policies expressed in the Eisenhower Doctrine to aid Middle East countries threatened by communism. To Find Right Husband

Date As Many Boys As Possible, New Miss America Advises High School Girls

NEW YORK (UP)—Marilyn Van Derbur, newly crowned Miss America of 1958, advised American teen-age girls today "to date as many boys as possible so you can be sure of marrying the right person."

The 20-year-old Denver post-debutante, whose poise and beauty are decidedly in the Grace Kelly mold, said she was opposed to the system of "steady" dating that has swept the nation's high schools.

"I've always dated several boys at a time myself and I think it is the only way to find the right husband," she said. "The teens are an especially important time to meet as many persons as possible."

Gowned in a white bouffant coronation gown that had served as her debut dress last December, Miss Van Derbur told reporters at her first Manhattan news conference that she did not have "any special boy friend."

She said she enjoyed "very much" her date with Chuck Larson, a U. S. Naval Academy student from Omaha, Neb., at the Miss America coronation ball in Atlantic City Saturday night, and "hoped to see him again."

The new Miss America is a green-eyed lovely, 5 feet 8-1/2 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. Her other vital statistics are 35-25-36.

Miss Van Derbur's prizes for winning the beauty crown include a $5,000 scholarship, $5,000 in cash plus another $50,000 for personal appearances.

During her reign as queen she is expected to travel about 150,000 miles. She will tour the United States and make at least three trips to Europe.

Miss Van Derbur said she would like to complete her college education, work on the stage for a year or two and get married at 24.

Another blonde beauty, Miss Georgia, was named first runner-up for the title.

Miss Georgia is Jody Elizabeth Shattuck, a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., who was raised in Meriden, Conn., and moved to Georgia about a year ago.

New Office Hours by Veterans Commission

Death Strikes In Twos, Threes

17 Killed on Illinois Highways

By United Press
Death struck mostly in twos and threes on Illinois highways during the weekend as trains, a giant steel blade, and dozing motorists were blamed for hiking the fatality toll to at least 17.

Three teen-agers were killed early Sunday in what was called a "death trap" collision with an Indiana Harbor Belt freight train at a crossing in Melrose Park. The victims were Nancy Wagner, 18, Carol Sue Hageman, 18, both of Bellwood, and Gerald Dominick, 17, Leyden Township.

First man to arrive at the scene, Frank Sullivan, Northlake, termed the crossing a "death trap." Five other youths were injured in the collision, three seriously.

Car-Train Collision
A collision with a New York

Central train west of Pana Friday night also resulted in three deaths. Killed were Charles Davis, 29, Tower Hill, Beula Nees, 21, Windrover, and Mrs. Iva Shelton, 39, Pana.

Mrs. Bernice Brandenburg, 38, Casey, and her daughter, Janet, 12, were killed in a car-train accident Saturday. Their car collided with a Pennsylvania Railroad train at a crossing near Casey.

The giant steel blade of a gravel spreader, protruding from a truck, spreader the roof from a hardtop convertible near Vienna Saturday morning. Killed in the accident were two passengers, Gene Paul Holman, 26, and Mrs. John Eastwood, both of Paducah, Ky.

Authorities said dozing at the wheel apparently caused the deaths of two motorists Sunday morning. Edwin Nelson, 28, Batavia, veered

Grand Jury is Empaneled

The September term of Saline county circuit court was convened at 9 a. m. today by Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna, who immediately empaneled a grand jury to consider indictments.

A chancery matter, Reynolds et al vs. Burns et al, was scheduled to be heard by Judge Reynolds today. The case was filed to quiet the title in the Webber estate in Galatia township, and involves oil rights under 2,800 acres, on which there are five producing oil wells.

New Contract Ends Strike at St. Louis Papers

ST LOUIS (UP)—Both St. Louis newspapers, the morning Globe-Democrat and the evening Post-Dispatch, resumed publication with settlement of a strike that had forced suspension of Sunday editions.

Sunday night, 22 electricians employed by the papers ended a strike which began at 5 a. m. Saturday, and signed a new contract calling for a wage increase.

Their picket lines had kept craft unions and members of the American Newspaper Guild from entering the Post and Globe and put Station KSD-TV, the Post's television outlet, off the air from Friday night until 6:49 p. m. Sunday.

The station is located in the Post building, as is the newspaper's radio station, KSD, which temporarily transferred broadcasting activities to the transmitter in near-by East St. Louis, Ill.

The electricians, members of Local No. 1 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, voted to accept a wage increase of 18 cents an hour for the first year of a two-year contract, and an additional boost of 12 cents an hour in the second year of the agreement. They dropped their demand for a night differential.

Before the new pact, the electricians received $3.25 an hour. The union had demanded a 30-cent wage boost, and the St. Louis Newspaper Assn., which bargains for both papers, offered 15 cents.

William Hayes of Old Shawneetown Dies

William Hayes, 83, resident of Old Shawneetown, died at the Peace hospital in Eldorado, Sunday afternoon. The funeral services will be held at the Wright funeral home in New Shawneetown at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Roland Westervelt will officiate and burial will be in the Westwood cemetery. The body will lie in state at the funeral home.

James W. Wright, 82, Former Resident, Dies

James W. Wright, 82, formerly of Harrisburg, died August 26 in the veterans hospital at Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Wright had been an invalid in this hospital for many years. He is survived by his daughter, Twila Fulkerson, St. Louis, Mo., and two grandchildren, Tommie and Nancy Fulkerson.

Kincheloe Rites Tuesday at 2 p. m.

The funeral of Everett (Jack) Kincheloe, 51, who died Saturday, will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the McKinley Avenue Baptist church. Rev. J. D. McCarty will officiate and burial will be in the Lyndale Memorial Gardens. The body will lie in state at the Gibbons funeral home until the funeral.

Three Hurt in 2-Car Collision Near Equality

Three persons were treated for injuries at hospitals Saturday night following a two-car crash on Route 13 near Equality at 8:45 p. m.

Injured were Henry LaFayette, Jr., 32, and his wife, Dorothy Pauline, 28, of Newburgh, Ind., formerly of Harrisburg, and Joseph Hopson, 56, of Equality Route 2.

State Policeman Michael Taggart, who with State Policeman James Fowler investigated the crash, said that LaFayette was driving east and Hopson was travelling west on Route 13 and the crash occurred when Hopson started to turn left toward Equality at the gravel road near the Pekin mine.

LaFayette and his wife were treated at Lightner hospital. He suffered head and arm bruises and Mrs. LaFayette facial cuts and a bruised leg. Hopson was taken to Ferrell hospital at Eldorado suffering a possible broken nose.

Midland Is Low Bidder on Virden Housing Project

Midland Construction Co. was low bidder to construct a forty-apartment housing project and administration building at Virden, Ill., and contracts are scheduled to be signed Sept. 21 with work to start the middle of October.

Midland's low bid was $419,960. This Harrisburg construction company is in the process of building a half million dollar housing project at Carlinville, Ill., with work about 20 per cent complete.

About 85 per cent complete is the McElvain Consolidated school building three miles north of Murphysboro, also being constructed by Midland.

Mrs. O. C. Hancock Seriously Injured While Stepping from Motorboat

Mrs. Clara Hancock of St. Louis, who with her husband, Dr. O. C. Hancock, had spent the past several weeks at their summer home in Stonefort, was seriously injured last week when she fell while stepping from a motorboat at Crab Orchard lake.

She suffered a broken leg and broken ribs and was in the Marion Memorial hospital until Saturday. She came to Harrisburg Saturday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes, then was taken to St. Louis Sunday.

Mrs. Hancock is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Barnes and of Judge L. M. Hancock.

No Presidential Ambitions

Stevenson Criticizes Faubus' Handling of Integration Dispute

CHICAGO (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson Sunday night criticized Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus' handling of the Little Rock integration dispute, and said he had no further presidential ambitions.

Stevenson, twice defeated Democratic presidential candidate and former Illinois governor, said he was "deeply grieved" by the situation in Little Rock.

"It appeared to me that here was a case where the National Guard was called out to prevent compliance with the law rather than to enforce it," Stevenson said. Stevenson appeared on a national television program in his first public appearance since returning from a summer business and pleasure trip to Europe and Africa.

In other comments, Stevenson said the recent session of Congress showed responsibility in its accomplishments and said he thought "progress had been made at the London meetings" on world disarmament.

The Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956 denied he would seek the candidacy again in 1960.

"I am not a candidate, I will not be a candidate, and beside that I'll not get it," Stevenson said. He called the idea of a presidential draft in 1960 "preposterous."

Concerning the Little Rock crisis,

Stevenson said it was difficult to understand why Faubus' guard was called out to preserve the peace. Instead, he said, it appeared the guard actually was creating most of the tension.

He recalled he spoke last year in Little Rock and at that time urged compliance of the U. S. Supreme Court decision on desegregation.

"I said then as I say now that I am against force ever being used in the segregation question," Stevenson continued. "That means force either to create integration or to continue segregation."

"A Supreme Court order can't be flouted with impunity," he said. "I won't accept that. However, I think that reason will prevail."

Has Explaining to Do

Eisenhower is Kissed by Two Women At Clubhouse While Mamie Is On Yacht

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—President Eisenhower probably had to do some explaining today.

While the first lady was cruising Narragansett Bay aboard the presidential yacht Barbara Anne Sunday, her husband was kissed by two enthusiastic female admirers after playing a Sunday golf round in the "high eighties."

The President, who described his golf as a game of "eights and pars," greeted many persons among a large crowd of spectators as he walked from the golf course to the Newport Country Club clubhouse. He changed shoes in an anteroom and, on his way to his car, entered the main lounge.

Kissed On Check
Mrs. Edna Flint, 40, of Cranston, R. I., rushed up to the President, threw her arms around him and kissed the surprised Chief Executive on the cheek.

He managed to respond with a "Thank you very much."

Before secret servicemen could establish who the woman was, Eisenhower was kissed again.

The blushing President said not a word when Mrs. George Guthro, of Providence, R. I., seized the opportunity to throw her arms around him and kiss him near the mouth. He broke away and made a beeline for his car.

Mrs. Guthro and Mrs. Flint had just come out of the club bar. They said later they were in Newport in connection with a meeting of the Builders' Iron Foundation. Mrs. Guthro only snickered when asked her age.

Some members of the fashionable country club were alarmed and apologetic because of the kissing in their handsome drawing room. One old-time member, his white flannel slacks and proper tatters shirt flapping in the breeze, raced up to reporters and asked they not inform the American public about the kissing ladies.

Faubus Stands Firm in Dispute With Courts

Civilians Bar Negroes at North Little Rock School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Enforcement of Federal Court integration orders was prevented here today by National Guard troops at one school and by grim-visaged civilians at another.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, in defiance of repeated mandates to permit the integration, stood by his guns in the most critical stage of opposition since the 1954 Supreme Court school decision.

Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Mann called Faubus a secessionist and warned that his desperate stand was the kind of kindling that set off the fires of the Civil War in 1861.

Although the nation's attention was directed to this normally moderate spot on the race subject, there were these other developments today:

—Nashville, Tenn., integrated its first grade under a gradual desegregation plan. Although there was no violence, a number of white parents began removing their children after 14 Negroes were admitted. Pickets were at all schools.

—White House Secretary James C. Hagerty announced in Newport, R. I., where President Eisenhower is vacationing, that an FBI report on the Little Rock crisis would be submitted during the day to Federal Judge Ronald M. Davies there.

—The President signed the civil rights bill, approved by Congress after violent objections from the South and a 24-hour filibuster by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.).

—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People petitioned U. S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan to enforce his year-old order calling for desegregation of Arlington County, Va., schools. Eight Negro children were turned away from county schools last week when they sought to enroll.

Repulsed by White Man
Six Negroes attempted to gain admission to nearby North Little Rock high school this morning.

They were bluntly repulsed by a stern white man, L. E. Stroud, who barred the entrance to the building while a jeering crowd of almost 500 students and adults pushed in close to lend him support.

"I've got a kid here, and I'm not going to let my kid go to school with any Negro," Stroud said, his feet spread wide, his arms

2 Autos Damaged In Collision on Route 45 Sunday

Two automobiles were extensively damaged, but there were no injuries in a collision about 5:30 p. m. Sunday on Route 45 near the Starlight Drive-In theatre.

The collision occurred, State Patrolman Adolph Sweat reports, when Mrs. Jerry Harmon of Oblong, driving north in a new Ford, started to pass another automobile, then saw an automobile driven by John K. Johnson of Norris City approaching.

Mrs. Harmon was unable to get completely back in her lane of traffic and the two automobiles sideswiped, Sweat stated.

Johnson was alone. With Mrs. Harmon was her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hurt of Urbana and Paul D. Finney, Oblong. All are students at the University of Illinois and had come to this area to look over the deer hunting prospects and told Patrolman Sweat they planned to come back when the bow-and-arrow deer hunting season came in.

There is a dip in the highway near the scene of the collision and Mrs. Harmon reported the oncoming automobile was hidden from sight in the dip when she started to pass, then came into view when she was almost along side the car in front.

The third automobile continued on and the driver is unknown.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

What God hath cleansed call not thou common. Acts 10:15.

In ancient days when swine fed on garbage they spread disease widely. In civilized Christian lands swine are fed clean food and are not scavengers and health laws prevent the sale of contaminated meat and food of all kinds. Properly inspected oysters are safe food also.

Spending and Inflation

William Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, had some sober words of caution the other day on the subject of inflation. He warns us not to try to do too much too fast.

Basically America today is in a period of expansion, but the present is not a boom phase. Some parts of the economy are moving ahead, others are lagging. In Martin's view, these mixed trends produce imbalances which must be brought into adjustment if we are to avoid trouble.

He noted, for instance, that total U. S. output went up 10 billion dollars last year but half of that increase represented simply higher prices rather than greater production of goods and services.

He suggested that some enterprises may be expanding too rapidly and thus developing temporary overcapacity.

To Martin, curbing inflation is an elemental matter of reducing spending and boosting savings. By this process, money goes out of circulation and the pressures on the price structure are eased.

He thinks we've had too much spending recently in relation to savings, but there are signs we may now be heading toward a better balance which could lessen inflationary dangers.

Americans always have been great anticipators. If the long-range trend is toward expansion, they like to spend the money now for what lies ahead.

What Martin seems to be saying is that we will all be better off, that the economy will keep in better balance, if we don't try to spend today what we ought to keep in our pockets until tomorrow.

And that goes both for the ordinary consumer and the enterpriser eager to put up another batch of factories.

"Looks More Like Pennant Fever Than Asian Flu"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is touring the Mediterranean, his column is written by his junior partner.)

JACK ANDERSON Says: Story Of Successful Atlas Was False Alarm; Army Inspector General Almost Muffed Nickerson Investigation; Nickerson's Boss Threatened With Court-Martial, Too.

WASHINGTON—The report that America beat Russia into the air with a successful intercontinental ballistic missile, supposedly fired 2,400 miles over the Atlantic, is unfortunately mistaken.

The Air Force has tested only one Atlas, which began wobbling in flight and was destroyed by a ground safety officer before it shot out of sight. Our only other ICBM, the Titan, is still under construction in Denver. It probably won't be ready for testing until the first of next year.

Strictly speaking, the Air Force developed the first intercontinental missile a year ago. This was the subsonic Snark, a winged missile, which can be shot down by jet fighters and is already considered obsolete.

Each experimental Atlas is known inside the Air Force by its number. No. 2 is now mounted in its launching stand at Cape Canaveral, Fla., waiting to be fired. The trigger date, of course, is top secret.

What might have been mistaken for a successful Atlas was the X-17, a three-stage missile that the Air Force has been using to blaze trails for the Atlas along the edge of space. Four stories tall, the X-17 has been fired to tremendous heights to duplicate conditions the Atlas will encounter.

Meanwhile, the Russians definitely are known to be testing multiple-stage missiles in the Arctic.

These missiles are specially designed to be launched in frigid climates—ominous news—since the polar route is the shortest distance to American targets. Russia has at least 20 major bases, each with a string of 20 or more launching sites, scattered along her northern fringes.

NICKERSON STORY
Inside story can now be told of how the Army's heavy-handed inspector general, Lt. Gen. David Ogden, almost muffed the investigation of Col. John Nickerson.

Ogden started out to find how Drew Pearson got a memo containing classified information on guided missiles. Before Ogden realized it, he had stirred up the most controversial court-martial since Gen. Billy Mitchell was drummed out of the Army for championing air power.

The mysterious memo writer turned out to be a young West Pointer, Colonel Nickerson, who was formally charged with giving away military secrets.

His commanding officer, Maj. Gen. John Medaris of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., became panicky and started calling the Pentagon to protect himself. At one point, Lt. Gen. Thomas Hickey, Third Army commander, threatened to court-martial Medaris if he didn't stop meddling in the case. Here are the backstage details:

Nickerson's memo, blistering Secretary of Defense Wilson for limiting Army missiles to 200 miles, somehow fell into Drew Pearson's hands. He submitted it to the Pentagon and asked for: (1) The Air Force's side of the controversy and (2) security advice.

BRUCKER GETS SORE
Instead of replying, Secretary of Defense Wilson confiscated the memo and turned it over to Deputy Secretary Reuben Robertson.

It lay on Robertson's desk for 10 days before the Army got wind of it.

Then Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker stormed into Robertson's office and demanded to know why he hadn't been consulted. He angrily accused Robertson of playing footsie with the rival Air Force. Brucker also cussed out Pearson.

Before Brucker left, he took custody of the memo and immediately ordered the inspector general to find out who leaked to Pearson. The trail pointed to Huntsville, Ala., so General Ogden personally flew there. He threatened and bullied until he discovered who wrote the memo.

By this time, Ogden had dug up enough evidence to warrant a court-martial. But he had used such roughshod methods to uncover what he thought was a simple news leak that he had violated Colonel Nickerson's legal rights.

He also had not taken formal statements nor advised witnesses of their rights. As a result, the court-martial almost blew up before it got off the ground.

STRAIT-LACED GENERAL
The Third Army took over jurisdiction at this point. Stern, erect General Hickey, the commanding general, scrupulously avoided consulting the Pentagon about it. Finally, Secretary Brucker summoned him to Washington to report on how the case was progressing. General Hickey marched into Brucker's office and delivered this formal announcement:

"I am not here to receive instruction," he said stiffly. "I am here to give a progress report." Brucker was so flabbergasted that he sat back meekly and listened to the report. All he ever asked was whether Hickey needed legal advice.

To get that advice, Hickey later phoned the judge advocate general, Maj. Gen. George Hickman. But the Third Army commander carefully confined his questions to points of law, banded down the receiver after getting his answers.

He told the Pentagon so little that the Army brass had to follow developments in the newspapers. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Army chief, privately favored soft-pedaling the court-martial. He feared Nickerson's lawyers would challenge Wilson's judgment, and, in effect, put the secretary of defense on trial. Taylor felt this would only antagonize Wilson and hurt the Army's cause.

But at no time did the Army chief try to tell Hickey how to conduct the court-martial. Hickey decided on his own to let Nickerson plead guilty to a lesser charge.

Only General Medaris went crying to the Pentagon, and he was promptly shut up by Hickey's threat to court-martial him.

Decorative Lighting

CHICAGO (AP)—The decorative lighting business, which in the past has enjoyed sales mainly at Christmas time, is becoming a year-round industry.

Albert V. Sadacca, executive director of Glolite Corp., said today's trend toward outdoor living and the popularity of indoor gardens have opened up a whole new field for decorative lighting.

Sadacca predicted that Americans will spend $5,000,000 this summer to light up their yards, porches and gardens. This amounts to five per cent of the total spent on Christmas lighting last year, Sadacca said.

Backyard barbecue pits, outdoor parties in suburban areas, and the craze for home swimming pools are responsible for the upsurge in the need for extra lighting, Sadacca added.

I heard the door slam behind us. We turned. Cole Jethroe stepped down off the porch and came out to the street. Smiling, he said, "Any more questions, marshal?" Blanchard nodded. "Plenty. But they'd be a waste of time."

"Then I thank you for your consideration. Just a word of advice, marshal. Barney's widow has had a hard time. You've seen the boy, of course. She has troubles enough without being involved in yours. Don't perch on her doorstep."

Cole wheeled to leave. Blanchard said, "Just a minute, Jethroe." Cole stopped. Blanchard said, "If I want you, where might I find you?"

"At the hotel. If not there, no telling."

"One more thing. Next time you visit the Clements, tell them I want Dorsey, alive and well, by tomorrow night at midnight. Have them send him in to the hotel, to me. Tell them I'll put him on the train then and the whole thing will be over. If they don't do that, I'll have 40 men from the marshal's office out here on the next train. If they kill Pete, I'll stay in Blue Springs myself until I get the evidence to hang them, if it takes the rest of my life."

Blanchard's words rubbed cold on my backbone. Only a crazy man would doubt that he meant it all. But Cole didn't bat an eye. Then a thin smile wrinkled the white skin around his mouth. He said, "Marshal, stop it. You can't drag me into this. Deliver your own messages."

Lillian came out onto the front porch. Blanchard walked to her and I followed. She looked down Depot St., where Cole Jethroe was just turning the corner.

Blanchard said, "What did he want?"

Lillian shrugged. "Nothing. Just wanted to say hello, to make sure we were all right, he said."

"What do you think he wants here?"

"I don't know. Cole is strange. I never got to know him well. He was very close to Barney. I think he resented my marrying him."

"Anything else?"

"He wants me to keep away from you. He said it was important that I have nothing to do with you."

"Lillian, I think Cole is running this thing. I think when it's over, he'll ask you to go back to Chicago with him."

Lillian said, "Oh . . ."

"I'm not sure of that," Blanchard said. "Don't worry about it if you don't want to go. If you need help, if you have anything to tell me, I'll be at the hotel or Hewitt will know where I am."

Blanchard turned and walked into the street. I tipped my hat to Lillian and followed him. I walked at his side down Depot St. I started to hurt again in a lot of places. Half a block from the barn, I noticed a gray horse standing in front of the livery, a line hanging from his halter but not quite touching the ground, like he'd stepped on it and broke it off. It was the pack horse Birch Crone had rented.

We came up to the horse. His legs were mudcaked and the pack saddle had loosened up some and he looked drawn up, like he'd been running a lot. Then Owen came and took him inside, muttering under his breath about the shape he was in.

I said, "Rambeau and Crone might make fine evidence. That is, if you meant it about running down the Clements if they kill Dorsey."

"I meant it," Blanchard said. "What are the chances Rambeau and Crone are still hiding out around the basin? What would they do if they didn't get horses?"

"They could hitch a ride on the wagon road to the county seat. Couldn't stay there long, though. Clements got friends there."

"How much of a ride to the county seat?"

"A hard day."

"Afraid of that. Can't leave town that long. We'll have to figure they got out of the country. It's all right, Pike. Pete's alive and he'll be alive when I put him on that southbound train."

"I sure hope you're right, Harney. Reckon I'll work a little now, if it's all right."

Blanchard grinned. "Don't work too hard, Pike," he said. "I've seen men in better shape."

I headed into the barn. Owen met me just inside the door. He jerked his head toward the loft. He said, "You got a visitor."

"Who?"

Owen just stared at me. His eyes excited. Then he waddled past and went into the harness room. I knew better than to try to get it out of his stubborn head if he didn't want to say. Him and his playful nature, I thought. I headed for the loft ladder and clambered up.

Sure enough, somebody had lit the lamp in my room. I walked over to the door and stepped in side. I had a visitor, all right.

Stood up, sat down or squatting, Dan Clement was big. Sitting in my chair, as he was now, he looked ed big as a mountain and a whole lot meaner.

Funny thing was, seeing Dan Clement there in my room, I thought right away about the chair, summer-dry and not built for the likes of Dan. Then I wanted to cut and run but I knew he'd catch me at the loft ladder. I was in no shape to take another licking. I was sad then, on top of being scared, sorry the reckoning had to come so soon. Nothing to do but wait for it, my fingernails cutting into my hands, sweat rising cool on my face.

Dan growled, "Sit down. Don't be a scared."

Harvesting Lure Not What It Used to Be

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—"Fried chicken three times a day and pretty girls"—just an echo of the harvest past for the men in the motorized combine age this year in Kansas wheat fields.

A newspaper dated July, 1912, dug out of the fields at the Kansas Historical Society here, showed that harvest hands at Hutchinson, Kan., were offered:

"High wages, short hours, five meals a day, joy rides, chicken three times a day and pretty girls."

One newspaper account had it that a Meade County farmer lost his harvest hands at the height of the wheat season to a Pawnee County farmer who advertised the "best looking girls in Kansas."

Forty-five years ago, the wage scale was $2.50 to $4 a day. Today, the combine workers make about $12 or more a day.

FAVORS SCHOOL AID—Lawrence G. Derthick, above, U. S. commissioner of education, favors a federal aid for school construction bill, and says he will help to lead this fight at the side of President Eisenhower. The measure was recently rejected by Congress. Derthick rose to his present position from the superintendency of schools in Chattanooga.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.® At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Miss Carmen Avery, Wayland Phillips Exchange Vows at Vienna Methodist

Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Phillips

One of the loveliest summer weddings in Vienna united Miss Carmen Avery and Wayland Phillips Sunday, August 18, at 2 p. m. at the First Methodist church there. Miss Avery is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Avery of Vienna, and Mr. Phillips is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brose Phillips of Harrisburg.

The altar was decorated with two candelabra and banked with pink and white gladioli and greenery. Miss Avah Phillips, Harrisburg, sister of the bridegroom, played traditional organ music before the ceremony and accompanied Miss Anne Endsley, also of Harrisburg, who sang "Oh, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly," and as a benediction, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Philippine handmade gown, the bodice of which was re-embroidered Chantilly lace with long tapered sleeves, and secured at the wrists and neck by tiny rows of crystal buttons. The floor length skirt was of illusion over net and eggshell satin. The overskirt of illusion was gold embroidered on Chantilly lace which draped the skirt and flowed into a long train. Train bearers were a young friend, Miss Susan Reynolds, and the bride's nephew, Master Jimmie Ray Avery. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured to a tiara of matching lace and embroidery of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of tuberose and stephanotis.

Her maid-of-honor, Miss Irma Phillips, sister of the bridegroom, was gowned in a waltz length frock of white ruffled lace over orchid chiffon, with a long cummerbund of the chiffon, and carried a small pink cascade bouquet.

James Ward, of Creve Coeur, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The Rev. William B. Fuson, pastor of the Dorrisville Baptist church, performed the double-ring ceremony, by candlelight.

Guests were seated by Kenneth L. Phillips, Ashley, cousin of the bridegroom, and Bill Casey, Tunnel Hill, friend of the bride.

Mrs. Avery chose for her daughter's wedding, a gown of grey lace over pink with black and white accessories. Mrs. Phillips wore navy blue chiffon with navy accessories.

Both mothers wore pink carnation corsages.

A reception followed the ceremony and was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with an all-white three tiered cake supporting a miniature bride and groom. The reception was served by friends of the bride with Mrs. Barbara Sil-cott, Chicago, in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left for a short honeymoon in the south.

The bride was graduated from the Vienna high school in the class of 1957. Mr. Phillips is a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school, class of 1953, and received his B. Ed. degree from Southern Illinois University, class of 1957.
He will teach history, English, and mathematics at the K. D. Waldo
Junior high school in Aurora.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips are now at home to their friends in Aurora.

Casey Dempsey editor and publisher of the Carlyle Democrat,
Carlyle, Ill., spent the week end visiting his mother, Mrs. Frances Dempsey, en route to Carbondale to attend a meeting at Southern

First Church of God Missionary Society Meets

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Church of God met at the home of Mrs. Ethel Keneipp Thursday night. The service was opened with prayer, led by Mrs. Ethel Fisher. Miss Beulah Lievers gave a review of the book "Being a Christian in Race Relations," which the group is using as a study course. She pointed out the facts that all men are created equal and that God is no respecter of persons. The business meeting, which followed, was conducted by Mrs. Gladys Aldridge, president. The meeting was concluded by devotion, presented by Mrs. Ethel Fisher.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. Those attending were:
Mrs. Margie Alexander, Mrs. Anna Rhine and granddaughter, Mrs.
Ethel Fisher, Mrs. Bess Aldridge,
Mrs. Gladys Aldridge, Mrs. Emma Hibbs, Miss Beulah Lievers, Miss
Marianne Alexander, Mrs. Verna
White, Mrs. Elsie Dudley.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Miss Beulah Lieves.

TV Notes

NEW YORK — The Norman Luboff Choir has been added to the long list of talent lined up for "Crescendo" on CBS Sept. 29.

Los Angeles and San Francisco have had their TV exposure as the background of detective series ("Dragnet" and "The Lineup").
Now Chicago will be represented by a new filmed series entitled
"M. Squad," starring Lee Marvin as a plainclothesman in the Windy
City. NBC will introduce the series
Sept. 20; Fridays at 9 p. m.

The first Jerry Lewis show for NBC this season will be on Nov. 5 from 9 to 10 p. m.

The World War II work of the Office of Strategic Services will form the basis for a new filmed series, "O. S. S.," which ABC will introduce Sept. 26; Thursdays at 9:30 p. m. British actor Ron Randall will have the leading role.

The first of the new "Disneyland" shows or ABC will be seen Sept. 11. Walt Disney has 26 of the one-hour displays set for the season, the program's fourth.

Several members of the Mystery Writers of America will be seen on "Studio One" play for Sept.
16, "First Prizes for Murder." Plot involves the club's annual awards dinner and a mysterious author.

Dr. Frank C. Baxter takes over as host and narrator of ABC's
"Telephone Time" series on Sept.
10.

But, Doc!

BY V. T. HAMLIN

WE'RE PRETTY WORRIED ABOUT DOC GOIN' OUT OF THE TIME-MACHINE BUSINESS.

AW, THAT RETIREMENT OF HIS IS ALL HOT AIR! HE'LL BE BACK IN THE LAB WORKING HIS HEAD OFF IN A WEEK OR SO.

SCREE CHANK

IT'S COMING FROM THE LAB.

WHAT'S THIS? I THOUGHT YOU'D GIVEN UP WORKING!

OH, I'M NOT WORKING, JUST DISMANTLING THE OLD TIME MACHINE.

NO USE HAVING THE LAB CLUTTERED WITH JUNK. I'LL NEVER USE AGAIN!

Want to Go Back?

NO, NO, NO, DOC. YOU CAN'T DESTROY THE TIME-MACHINE! YOU JUST CAN'T DO IT!

EVEN IF YOU HAVE LOST INTEREST IN THE PROJECT, YOU SIMPLY MUST CONSIDER THE WELFARE OF THESE FAITHFUL MOOVIES.

YEH, YOU GOTTA THINK ABOUT US FOLKS! YOU GO BUSTIN' UP ALL THESE GADGETS!

ARE YOU TRYING TO SAY YOU ACTUALLY WANT TO GO BACK TO A PREHISTORIC LIFE?

WELL... NO... NOT EXACTLY, BUT...

BUT THEY ARE A PREHISTORIC PEOPLE, DOC!

WERE IS THE WORD!

'I Have Faith In My Druggist'

You seldom hear people say, "I have faith in my druggist." It is taken for granted. When a customer hands his prescription to the druggist, the patron assumes the doctor's orders will be carried out, precisely and quickly. And he assumes correctly. For the pharmacist has long years of study behind him. He has passed comprehensive state examinations, licensing him to compound powerful drugs for the public. He is continually adding to his knowledge, as hundreds of new drugs are constantly being manufactured to make us well and keep us that way.

Put your faith in your pharmacist. He has learned that a customer doesn't necessarily know what is best for him — a drug may be called for that actually would be harmful if not used exactly as the doctor prescribed. This is a time when the pharmacist knows best.

Rely on your druggist. His background and scientific training, and his human approach to his work have become an important part of our American way of living.

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT ENDORSES AMAZING NEW HEARING INVENTION

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has now joined other prominent Americans and people from all walks of life in praising a revolutionary new hearing device called "The Listener." "It certainly heralds a new day for the hard of hearing," said Mrs. Roosevelt recently.

Continuing, she added: "If people only knew what a revelation and a joy The LISTENER is, they would not for a moment hesitate to wear one. This is the first hearing aid that exactly fits my needs. I didn't realize a hearing aid could be as good as this."

So widespread is the interest in this remarkable new electronic hearing achievement, the makers have prepared an illustrated booklet giving full details. Those interested may obtain a free copy from:

U. S. Air Ferry Flies Military Arms to Jordan

By United Press
A fleet of U. S. military transports flew arms to Jordan today in a dramatic move to back up President Eisenhower's pledge to bolster America's Middle East allies against the threat of Soviet-inspired aggression.

Russia Accused Of Interfering In West Germany

BONN, Germany (UP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government today sharply accused the Soviets of meddling in the West German elections.

Officials charged the latest Kremlin note to the Bonn government was designed to help the opposition Socialist Party as the election battle entered its final week. But they expressed confidence the Soviet maneuver would boomerang.

Adenauer in an election rally address at Bad Godesberg Sunday night asserted the Kremlin reply to a communication sent by Bonn more than four months ago "obviously was intended to support the Socialists."

"But it will not make the German voter give his vote to the Socialists next Sunday," the adamant pro-Western chancellor said.

The Kremlin had warned Bonn that reunification of Germany is out of the question unless West Germany pulls out of the Atlantic alliance. It accused the Adenauer government of turning West Germany into a base for atomic warfare.

actions in Moscow, Damascus and Cairo. Communist propaganda mills ground out an almost endless stream of invectives, accusing the United States of plotting "aggression" against leftist Syria. Similar charges were made in Damascus where the Syrian cabinet met into emergency session to discuss the situation.

A spokesman for the Department of State in Washington termed Russian and Syrian charges that the U. S. was planning aggression against Syria as "rubbish." He said it is "perfectly obvious it isn't so."

Deplores Arms Race

Asked if the Soviet and Syrian charges might be a cloak for aggressive designs on their part, the spokesman said: "That's one of the reasons we are sending arms

Soviets Test Another A-Weapon

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that Russia tested another nuclear weapon "of moderate intensity" during the past two days.

It said the test appeared to be the second of a series started on Aug. 22.

The formal AEC announcement by Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, follows:

"Within the past two days the Soviets have fired a nuclear weapon of moderate intensity. This appears to be the second test of the series which began on Aug. 22."

out there—to make sure they don't do it."

India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru deplored the arms race in the Middle East and warned "one wrong step" could lead to conflict and then "bigger" conflict.

The United States, Britain and France were reported stepping up consultations for a quick realignment of Middle East strategy. Reports from London said British government quarters considered tension in the area at its highest peak since the Anglo-French invasion of Suez last fall.

Sterns Indicted By Federal Jury

NEW YORK (UP)—Martha Dodd Stern and her husband Alfred were indicted today by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to commit espionage for Soviet Russia.

The Sterns, now believed touring somewhere behind the Iron Curtain, face a possible death penalty if tried and convicted. Mrs. Stern is the daughter of the late William E. Dodd, ambassador to Germany from 1933 to 1938.

The Sterns had been fined $25,000 each for failure to appear before a special grand jury investigating subversion and espionage.

The couple had been living in Mexico but fled to Europe early in July when the Mexican government sought to return them to the United States for questioning.

Russia Will Not Win Missile Race, Quarles Says

NEW YORK (UP)—Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles said confidently today that Russia will not beat America in the intercontinental ballistic missile race.

He told the U. S. Conference of Mayors that this country credits the Soviets with substantial progress in long-range ballistic missile work.

But he belittled the Russian claim of Aug. 26 that an intercontinental ballistic rocket had been tested successfully. He said the Russian announcement created "an impression that substantially exceeded the truth."

"After examining all the evidence," Quarles said in a prepared speech, "I am confident that we will not be outdistanced in this so-called ballistic missile race."

Chris Doerner Dies Near Norris City

Chris Doerner, 65, died at 11:45 a. m. Sunday at his home east of Norris City. He is survived by his wife, five sons and one daughter. The body is in the care of the Cox funeral home in Ridgway and was taken to the family residence to lie in state. The funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Old Village Presbyterian church with Rev. Leo Walton officiating and burial will be in the church cemetery.

Matter of FACT

The daisy belongs to the largest plant family in the world, the composite, numbering among its more than 10,000 members, the chrysanthemum, dahlia, sunflower, aster and dandelion. In the "language of the flowers" the daisy stands for modesty and simplicity.

Little Rock Troops Again Halt Integration

folded across his burly chest.

Stroud is a clerk for the Missouri Pacific Railroad and has a daughter in North Little Rock high.

The Negroes departed without further incident to plan their next move.

They were turned down for the official reason that the North Little Rock school board had postponed scheduled integration until things calmed down at nearby Little Rock.

The situation at North Little Rock was different from that at Little Rock. North Little Rock, a separate incorporated municipality, has had no court order for integration as was the case in Little Rock. The next move of the Negroes there apparently would be a formal petition to North Little Rock for admission.

North Little Rock Mayor A. C. Perry sided with the governor on the issue of resisting integration.

"We have to protect our people, both white and colored," Perry said.

At Little Rock's Central High School, a crowd gathered at the opening of classes but dispersed soon when it became obvious there would be no racial problem there today.

National Guard troops again ringed that school, however, to prevent integration.

Faubus appeared on a national television network news conference Sunday night to state more firmly than ever that he was determined to prevent integration of Little Rock schools at this time.

The governor insisted that:—He does not oppose integration and that in fact his own son, Farrell Faubus, is enrolling today at an integrated college.

—He feels the federal government's "only alternative" is to give in to the state in the present situation.

—He has support from other states in his fight and could get "militia volunteers" should the Arkansas National Guard be federalized into the U. S. Army because of his defiance.

Federal Judge Barnes to Retire

CHICAGO (UP)—Judge John P. Barnes, chief judge of the Federal Court for the Northern District of Illinois, today announced his retirement, effective Sept. 15.

Barnes, 76, said he timed his retirement to coincide with the date he came to Chicago as a graduate of the University of Michigan to begin his first job at $7.50-a-week in the legal department of the First National Bank of Chicago.

During his quarter-century service on the federal bench, Barnes became one of the most respected judges in the federal court system.

Girl, 15, Shoots Her Stepfather

SYCAMORE, Ill. (UP)—A 15-year-old girl said today she shot her stepfather to stop him from beating her mother and a 7-year-old stepbrother with his belt.

Mrs. Wilma Jean Griffith, Eau Claire, Mich., held on an open charge in De Kalb County jail here, made the admission to State's Atty. Carl Swanson Jr.

Her stepfather, W. J. Parker, 36, Marked Tree, Ark., a laborer on the Lawrence Gallagher farm near Paw Paw, was in critical condition with a chest wound at a hospital at Mendota.

Woman is Found Dead Near Salem

SALEM, Ill. (UP)—A 68-year-old woman was found dead at the edge of a farm pond near her home three miles east of here this morning.

Sheriff William Hoskinson identified the woman as Mrs. Earl Bason. He said there were no signs of violence. Her head and shoulders were in about three inches of water, Hoskinson said.

The sheriff said Mrs. Bason had been in failing health the last few years.

A grass fire near Foster's, near Muddy, was extinguished at 2:10 p. m. Saturday by the Harrisburg fire department. There was no damage.

Civil Rights Measure Signed By Eisenhower

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—President Eisenhower today signed the civil rights bill and then awaited developments in Little Rock, Ark., where the school integration issue reached a new boiling point.

The President signed the bill without comment.

"I think the President's views on this bill are very well known," said White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

Shortly before the President signed the civil rights bill in his small summer White House office on the Newport Navy base, Hagerty said that an investigative report, prepared by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on "the facts" of the integration impasse in Little Rock, would be submitted during the day to Federal District Judge Ronald N. Davies.

The President signed the bill at 8:10 a. m. and then left his office to play golf at the Newport Country Club. He used six pens to affix his signature to the legislation.

He wrote on the bottom of the bill, "Approved, Dwight D. Eisenhower, 9 September 1957, U. S. Naval Base, Newport, R. I."

The measure signed by the President this morning was a voting rights bill with several fringe features.

It provides for a federal civil rights commission to investigate rights violations throughout the country and a new assistant attorney general to handle civil rights matters.

It also carries a clause repealing a Reconstruction Era law authorizing the President to use federal troops to enforce civil rights.

The law does not give the federal government new powers to enforce racial equality other than in voting rights. All broad authority, proposed in the original bill, was eliminated by the Senate's amendments.

In such civil rights issues as the Little Rock school integration deadlock, the new laws adds the new investigative commission and the assistant attorney general for civil rights. Neither will have any powers not already vested in the federal government.

Student Reveals Painting Technique

LONDON (UP)—William Green, 23, a student at the Royal College of Art, Sunday revealed his painting technique.

Green said he puts a large, fresh white canvas on the floor, then:

Pours paint and a tin of printer's ink on it.

Jumps up and down on the paint, dances on it, skips over the surface. Rides over the canvas on a bicycle, skidding to scatter the paint, later uses the bicycle wheel to spread it around further.

Soaks the canvas in paraffin. Shovels sand on the painting to give "added texture."

His paintings sell for up to 100 pounds ($280).

VFW Defeats McLeansboro, 8-7; to Play Norris City in Final Playoff

The Harrisburg VFW baseball team slugged out an 8-7 win over the McLeansboro Pirates on VFW field Sunday afternoon in the second round of the Oil Belt League playoffs. Harrisburg will meet Norris City, 8-3 winner over Cisne in a game that was also played Sunday. Harrisburg won its first round game, 1-0, at Springfield and McLeansboro clobbered Mt. Carmel, 20-1, at Mt. Carmel last Sunday.

The visitors picked up two runs in the 1st on Millinbline's single, Stover's double and Hall's triple. The locals came back and scored one in the 1st on Odle's double and Dallas's single. The VFW tied it up in the 2nd on a walk to Sisk, a sacrifice by Stout and Odle's second hit. McLeansboro bounced back and scored two in the 3rd when Robinson was safe on an error, Stover tripled, and Hall and Harper singled.

In the third Dallas led off with a triple and Romonosky drove him in with a line shot to left center. In the 4th the locals took a one run lead when Stout and Willis singled, both advanced on a passed ball and scored on Bob Dallas's hit. Stover with a single and Hall with a triple tied the game up in the 5th.

In the 7th the Pirates took a 2-run lead when Millinbline doubled, Stover was intentionally passed and Harper scored them both on a pop fly hit. In the 8th the VFW exploded for five hits and three runs when Odle and Guley hit back to back triples, Willis doubled, and Ziegler and Dallas singled.

Gophers One of Big Ten's Best Balanced Teams

By United Press

Minnesota appeared today to have one of the Big Ten's best balanced football teams on the basis of weekend scrimmage sessions.

The Gophers' first team squeaked by the third squad 18-12 and the second unit downed the fourth 18-0 in Saturday's scrimmage. Coach Murray Warmath said he didn't know whether "I have an exceptionally well balanced squad or whether the first unit needs a lot more practice."

By contrast, Wisconsin's first two squads ran up a 68-0 score against the reserves, with sophomore quarterback Dale Hackbart passing for two tallies and scoring another. Halfback Danny Lewis scored three touchdowns.

Passes for Five Touchdowns

Purdue's two top offensive teams also went on a scoring binge with nine touchdowns, but the squad looked far from impressive during the game length scrimmage against reserves. Only two of the tallies came on the ground. Junior quarterback Bob Spoo passed for five touchdowns.

Illinois also took to the air, with the first and second units scoring six touchdowns each against third and fourth stringers. Quarterbacks Bill Offenbacher and Tom Haller passed for six of the scores.

Northwestern displayed a potent aerial and ground attack in its two hour scrimmage. Quarterback Chip Holcomb tossed a pair of touchdown passes and fullback Jim Thompson romped for a 60 yard tally. Scrubs Jolt Iowa.

Coach Forest Evashevski's first team got a jolt when the Iowa scrubs drove 80 yards for the first touchdown of the scrimmage session. The first team came back with three touchdowns, two of them sparked by substitute quarterback Olen Treadway.

Indiana's No. 1 squad defeated the reserves, scoring five touchdowns to the scrubs' two. Outstanding in the Hoosier backfield were sophomore tailbacks Vic Jones and Ted Auerman, sophomore fullback John Meegan and veteran wingback Jim Yore.

Ohio State's squad went through a rugged scrimmage session with junior Dick Lebeau a standout at halfback and junior Frank Kremblas the star quarterback.

In non-conference action, Norte Dame's first team downed the reserves 33-7 in a game-length scrimmage. Junior fullback Nick Pietrosante scored twice.

New Herrerin Coach Faces Rebuilding Task; Says Boys 'Just Don't Believe in Losing'

By SAM HANCOCK

United Press Sports Writer

HERRIN, Ill. (AP) — What sounds like a warning comes from Bob Hutchison, new head coach at Herrin High.

Herrin holds the state basketball championship and finished third in the tough South Seven football conference last year.

This year, the 32-year-old coach said, his Tigers teams are "going to play for the fun of it."

"But one thing about that bunch of boys," Hutchison added, "they just don't believe in losing."

Hutchison is taking over from Earl Lee, who moved on to a better paying job at Cahokia to climax his Cinderella story at Herrin. Lee brought the state prep basketball diadem to the school in his first year as head coach.

Hutchison, who had been assisting Lee, said that he doesn't expect to win the state cage championship the first year and neither do his rabid fans.

"I'll be happy if we can win half of our football games," he said, "and I figure we may lose about six out of 22 basketball games."

But a look at the coaching record of Hutchison, the only alumnus ever to become head coach, discloses the quality of the teams Hutchison will field this year.

Two years ago, Hutchison guided the boys who are now seniors to undefeated seasons in basketball and football as sophomores.

The freshman-sophomore football team went 10-0 for the season and the cagers won 22 straight.

There have been personnel losses in the past two years, of course, and graduation has hurt both the football and basketball teams.

Cardinals Move to Within 5 1/2 Games of First Place; Yankees Extend Their Lead

By United Press

Jack Urban couldn't make the grade with the New York Yankees but he's a big reason today why the world champions figure to make the grade in the American League pennant race.

A 29-year-old, 155-pound right hander who went to Kansas City as part of the Yankees' deal for Enos Slaughter, Urban hurled a 13-inning, five-hitter Sunday to give the Athletics a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The loss dropped the White Sox 5 1/2 games behind the Yankees, who scored a 5-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved to within 5 1/2 games of first place in the National League when they beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 4-3, and the Chicago Cubs dumped the Milwaukee Braves, 5-3, in 10 innings. The White Sox are four games behind the Yankees in the "loss column" with 19 games to go while the Cardinals are six behind the Braves with 17 to go.

Urban Fans Eight

Urban struck out eight, yielded only one earned run and hurled no-hit ball for the last 8 2/3 innings to win his fifth decision. He also knocked in a run with one of his three hits.

Bobby Shantz rescued Tom Sturdivant in the ninth inning for the Yankees, who took a 3-0 lead in the second inning with the help of Gil McDougald's key double and added two insurance runs in the ninth. Roy Sievers singled home both Washington runs in the third to raise his runs batted in total to 101.

Wally Moon singled home the tying run and Al Dark popped a single to right field to drive in the winning tally for the Cardinals.

downs to the scrubs' two. Outstanding in the Hoosier backfield were sophomore tailbacks Vic Jones and Ted Auerman, sophomore fullback John Meegan and veteran wingback Jim Yore.

Giants Lose Second Tilt

By United Press

If you're looking for an "early line" on the 1957 National Football League race, you won't find those scrambled exhibition results much help.

Monday morning experts could ponder today such items as the second loss in four games for the world champion New York Giants and an impressive victory over tough Baltimore by previously winless Washington as typical of a full week end of pro gridiron play.

In Sunday games, the Redskins ended a three-game losing streak by whipping highly-touted Baltimore, 24-14; the Chicago Bears bounced back from a loss to the Giants to hand the winless Philadelphia Eagles their fifth straight defeat, 24-14; and the Pittsburgh Steelers handed the Detroit Lions their first loss, 20-14.

On Saturday, the San Francisco Forty-Niners downed the Chicago Cardinals, 27-21; and the Green Bay Packers surprised the Giants, 13-10. On Friday night, the Los Angeles Rams beat the Cleveland Browns, 20-14.

Fur-bearing animals contribute more than $3,000,000 a year to the wealth of Arkansas. Among pelts sold are opossum, skunk, raccoon and mink.

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Cool Weather Brings Bass Catches

By Pete Brown
(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation.)

Cooling water temperatures have nudged bass out of the depths in most southern Illinois fishing areas, prompting a general switch-over to surface and medium-running lures.

At Crab Orchard this week, Henry Schroeder of the SIU staff landed a six and one-half pounder. Other catches ranging from three to six pounds have been reported by Henry Berger, Nick Masters, and Al Peithmann, all of Carbondale.

Peppering the surface with poppers and floating bass plugs, Little Grassy Lake anglers have netted some fair largemouth catches during the first week of September, although crappie fishing is still the best shot across the board. One couple netted 170 crappie last Sunday.

Bass fishermen, Ed Leffler, of East St. Louis, victimized 10 two-pounders with a fly rod popper, while Fred Greiger, of Belleville, hung the week's prize, a six and one-quarter pounder on a Lucky 13. John Goss, also of Belleville, went trolling with a Heddon Sonic and boated three totalling nine pounds. The water at Grassy is quite clear.

A six pound bass, largest ever recorded at Harrisburg City Lake, represented the week's best effort there. Smaller bass are still hitting with voracious abandon and several limit catches have been reported. Fishermen generally troll over the lake until hooking a bass, then lay down a barrage of casts in the area. Catfishing has slowed.

Bluegill and redear activity is on the upswing again at Lake Murphysboro where the after-effects of a seasonal turnover have diminished. Howard Teller, of Granite City, and Joe Pulche, of East Carondelet, each hooked 80 on worms, the best bait at the present.

ent. Floyd Hicks, Herrin, boated 30. Bass plugging has been slow, with artificial red worms credited with the largest measure of success.

Carbondale reservoir is now rewarding its tolerant fans with some good sport in the late afternoon and evening hours. Two and three pound bass are smacking River Runts along the length of the levee, and Jim Carter, of Carbondale, running a spot check for the "Guide," defeated a five and one-quarter pound bass with an artificial black worm. Bluegill fishing is off and jug-running has been unproductive.

Sixty-three bass were taken, mostly on minnows, at Pineknobville City Lake Sept. 1 and all signs point to continued good fishing. Crappie, while not being caught in spectacular numbers, are running good sized. Bluegill, an also-ran species most of the summer, have started sitting worms. Minnows are the best bass bait.

Fishing at Horseshoe Lake has been somewhat slow, but steady. A four pounder taken on a Hell-diver by an Olive Branch angler was the best bass catch of the week.

The Cache River (checked one mile from Perks) has afforded some spirited bluegill play of late, with the majority of catches being recorded at the edge of brush growths. Crappie, averaging eight to 10 inches, are responding in fair numbers.

Lake Sahara is as quiet as it has been since early spring, with all reports indicating below-average success. The lake is low but in fine condition.

Out-of-county fishermen have been ruled strictly "verboten" on Lake Benton because of heavy utilization straining the policing and sanitation facilities of the city. Not supported by taxes, the lake is operated "incidental to the Benton water utility," and water department revenue has suffered. Only "bona fide" residents of Franklin county may now use the lake and adjoining recreation center.

"I know I need more Life Insurance, but how can I afford it?"

HAVE you ever had this thought? Have you ever wondered how your wife could keep the family together if something should happen to you? This question faces most men while their children are growing up.

We believe that you will find the answer to this question in the Metropolitan Family Income Plan. This plan is designed to furnish the extra income needed to take care of your children until they have finished their education or are getting started in life.

The plan combines regular insurance with a special income provision which can be fitted to your particular circumstances and family needs. Here are some of its important features:

1. You choose the amount of monthly income needed—$100 a month, $200, $300 or more.
2. If you should die at any time within 20 years—while your children are growing up—the Metropolitan Family Income Plan will provide the income you arrange to be paid to your family each month for the remainder of the 20 years. Then the face amount of the policy will be paid in cash.

3. If you should live beyond 20 years, when the income provision is no longer in effect, your family will still have continuing protection for the face amount of the policy.

For your own peace of mind, why not get the complete details of the Family Income Plan from your Metropolitan Representative? He will be more than happy to explain it to you, and demonstrate that...

Metropolitan service is as local as Main Street... as close as your phone

Disarmament is Eventual: Stassen

Returns from Unsuccessful Talks in London Sees Agreement Because of Dangers Of Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, U. S. disarmament negotiator, insisted today that a first step disarmament agreement eventually will be reached because of the dangers of nuclear war.

Returning to Washington from the unsuccessful talks in London, Stassen said the next move is up to Russia.

"If the Russians would express willingness to stop production of fissionable materials for weapons uses," he said, "then I believe we could move on to a first step agreement on disarmament."

Stassen emphasized that the break up of the London talks was "a matter of a recess, not a collapse."

"It is a matter of an interval, not a breakoff," he said.

I believe the day will come when we will reach agreement on a first step disarmament plan. The nations of the world know nuclear war would be a great loss for everyone."

Stassen has been negotiating in London with the Russians for more than five months.

To Report to Dulles

He returned home to report to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on failure of the five-nation United Nations subcommittee to work out a first step agreement. The subcommittee, he said, will now report to the 12-nation disarmament commission at the United Nations.

On other points, Stassen:

—Rejected as "unfounded" charges by the Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda that the United States sabotaged the London talks. On the contrary, Stassen said the United States had negotiated "seriously, patiently, and persistently on a very complicated subject."

—Declined to say whether he would favor a personal appearance by President Eisenhower before the U. N. General Assembly to seek disarmament progress. But he recalled that the President had made such an appearance in 1953 when he outlined his atom-for-peace proposal.

—Predicted that there will be "very strong support" in the United Nations for the American-Aligned 11-point disarmament plan put forward at London on Aug. 29.

Stassen said that the London negotiations did bring out agreement in principle on suspending nuclear testing for two years, reducing armed forces and other points although there was no formal agreement.

He gave an evasive answer when asked if he plans to quit the search for disarmament and enter Pennsylvania politics.

He said he has declared a "complete moratorium on politics" and his immediate plans are to report to Dulles.

John Chase, 48, Former Resident, Dies in Chicago; Rites Tuesday

John Chase, 48, former Harrisburg resident, son of Mrs. Martha Chase and the late Mike Chase, RFD 2, Harrisburg, died in Chicago Saturday morning. The body will be received in Carbondale at noon and will lie in state at the Turner funeral home, Harrisburg, at 2 p. m. today. The funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Tuesday in the funeral home with Rev. W. E. Hanagan, Eldorado, officiating.

Mr. Chase is survived, in addition to his mother, by his sons, Paul Edward Chase and Frank John Chase, Chicago; his brother, Joe Chase, Chicago and his sisters, Mrs. Anna Daluga, Chicago, Mrs. Tillie Sikec, Riverside and Mrs. Helen Turner, Carrier Mills.

Grand Jury is Empaneled

The September term of Saline county circuit court was convened at 9 a. m. today by Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna, who immediately empaneled a grand jury to consider indictments.

A chancery matter, Reynolds et al vs. Burns et al, was scheduled to be heard by Judge Reynolds today. The case was filed to quiet the title in the Webber estate in Galatia township, and involves oil rights under 2,800 acres, on which there are five producing oil wells.

New Contract Ends Strike at St. Louis Papers

ST LOUIS (UP)—Both St. Louis newspapers, the morning Globe-Democrat and the evening Post-Dispatch, resumed publication with settlement of a strike that had forced suspension of Sunday editions.

Sunday night, 22 electricians employed by the papers ended a strike which began at 5 a. m. Saturday, and signed a new contract calling for a wage increase.

Their picket lines had kept craft unions and members of the American Newspaper Guild from entering the Post and Globe and put Station KSD-TV, the Post's television outlet, off the air from Friday night until 6:49 p. m. Sunday.

The station is located in the Post building, as is the newspaper's radio station, KSD, which temporarily transferred broadcasting activities to the transmitter in near-by East St. Louis, Ill.

The electricians, members of Local No. 1 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, voted to accept a wage increase of 18 cents an hour for the first year of a two-year contract, and an additional boost of 12 cents an hour in the second year of the agreement. They dropped their demand for a night differential.

Before the new pact, the electricians received $3.25 an hour.

The union had demanded a 30-cent wage boost, and the St. Louis Newspaper Assn., which bargains for both papers, offered 15 cents.

William Hayes of Old Shawneetown Dies

William Hayes, 83, resident of Old Shawneetown, died at the Pearce hospital in Eldorado, Sunday afternoon. The funeral services will be held at the Wright funeral home in New Shawneetown at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Roland Westervelt will officiate and burial will be in the Westwood cemetery. The body will lie in state at the funeral home.

James W. Wright, 82, formerly of Harrisburg, died August 26 in the veterans hospital at Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Wright had been an invalid in this hospital for many years. He is survived by his daughter, Twila Fulkerson, St. Louis, Mo., and two grandchildren, Tommie and Nancy Fulkerson.

IKE WARNS RUSSIA ON SYRIA—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and State Department troubleshooter Loy Henderson, right, are shown at the White House, where they met with President Eisenhower to confer on the Syrian situation. A statement released in wake of the conference by Secretary Dulles contained a stern warning to Russia by the President not to "press Syria into an act of aggression" against her neighbors, and reaffirmed Mr. Eisenhower's intention to carry out the policies expressed in the Eisenhower Doctrine to aid Middle East countries threatened by communism. To Find Right Husband

NEW YORK (UP)—Marilyn Van Derbur, newly crowned Miss America of 1958, advised American teen-age girls today "to date as many boys as possible so you can be sure of marrying the right person."

The 20-year-old Denver post-debutante, whose poise and beauty are decidedly in the Grace Kelly mold, said she was opposed to the system of "steady" dating that has swept the nation's high schools.

"I've always dated several boys

at a time myself and I think it is the only way to find the right husband," she said. "The teens are an especially important time to meet as many persons as possible."

Gowned in a white bouffant coronation gown that had served as her debut dress last December, Miss Van Derbur told reporters at her first Manhattan news conference that she did not have "any special boy friend."

She said she enjoyed "very much" her date with Chuck Larson, a U. S. Naval Academy student from Omaha, Neb., at the Miss America coronation ball in Atlantic City Saturday night, and "hoped to see him again."

The new Miss America is a green-eyed lovely, 5 feet 8 1/2 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. Her other vital statistics are 35-25-36.

Miss Van Derbur's prizes for winning the beauty crown include a $5,000 scholarship, $5,000 in cash plus another $50,000 for personal appearances.

During her reign as queen she is expected to travel about 150,000 miles. She will tour the United States and make at least three trips to Europe.

Miss Van Derbur said she would like to complete her college education, work on the stage for a year or two and get married at 24.

Another blonde beauty, Miss Georgia, was named first runner-up for the title.

Miss Georgia is Jody Elizabeth Shattuck, a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., who was raised in Meriden, Conn., and moved to Georgia about a year ago.

Daily Worker Editor Quits

NEW YORK (UP)—The foreign editor of the Daily Worker today severed his Red ties because of the U. S. Communist party's subservience to Soviet foreign policy.

Joseph Clark, 43, a Communist for 28 years, announced his resignation in a letter in the Daily Worker, the Communist organ in the United States. The letter of resignation, the first ever published in the Worker, was a frank, illuminating report on the present state of the American Communist party.

While professing faith in Socialism and Marxism, Clark openly admitted disillusionment with the American Communist party.

His disillusionment, Clark indicated, was based primarily on the refusal of American Communists to take an independent position, rather than always agree with Soviet policy.

Clark, who won the Silver Star for gallantry in action as a U. S. infantryman during World War II, long has espoused a policy of independence for American Communists. These views have brought him rebuffs from the Kremlin, which has charged Clark with trying to set up "national Communism" in the United States.

Death Strikes In Twos, Threes

17 Killed on Illinois Highways

By United Press

Death struck mostly in twos and threes on Illinois highways during the weekend as trains, a giant steel blade, and dozing motorists were blamed for hiking the fatality toll to at least 17.

Three teen-agers were killed early Sunday in what was called a "death trap" collision with an Indiana Harbor Belt freight train at a crossing in Melrose Park. The victims were Nancy Wagner, 18, Carol Sue Hagemann, 18, both of Bellwood, and Gerald Dominick, 17, Leyden Township.

First man to arrive at the scene, Frank Sullivan, Northlake, termed the crossing a "death trap." Five other youths were injured in the collision, three seriously.

Car-Train Collision

A collision with a New York

Central train west of Pana Friday night also resulted in three deaths. Killed were Charles Davis, 29, Tower Hill, Beula Neece, 21, Windsor, and Mrs. Iva Shelton, 39, Pana.

Mrs. Bernice Brandenburg, 38, Casey, and her daughter, Janet, 12, were killed in a car-train accident Saturday. Their car collided with a Pennsylvania Railroad train at a crossing near Casey.

The giant steel blade of a gravel spreader, protruding from a truck, sheared the roof from a hardtop convertible near Vienna Saturday morning. Killed in the accident were two passengers, Gene Paul Holman, 26, and Mrs. John Eastwood, both of Paducah, Ky.

Authorities said dozing at the wheel apparently caused the deaths of two motorists Sunday morning.

Edwin Nelson, 28, Batavia, veered off Ill. 31 near Batavia, skidded back across the road, and was killed when his car rammed a tree. Samuel Kavacic, 50, Virden, died when he lost control of his car on Ill. 4, south of Springfield, and smashed into a tree.

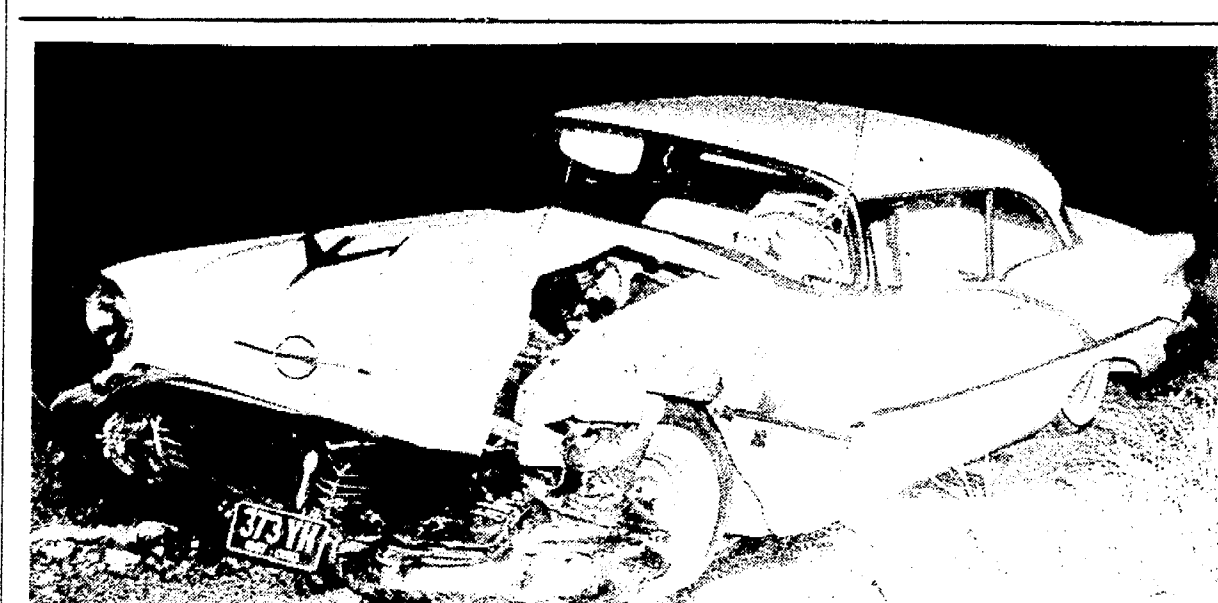

A head-on collision near Pekin Sunday killed Theodore Trowbridge, 37, East Peoria and Orval Steinke, 35, Pekin.

J. A. Campbell, 87, president of the Greenup National Bank, was killed in a two-car collision Sunday near the Greenup town square.

Mark Allen Hoffman, 18 months old, Effingham, was killed when his parents' car was hit broadside and overturned on a road near Effingham.

Mrs. Alice Bader, 64, of Wahoo, Neb., died in a three-car pileup near Leland Friday night.

Little Rock Troops Again Halt School Integration

Three Hurt in 2-Car Collision Near Equality

Three persons were treated for injuries at hospitals Saturday night following a two-car crash on Route 13 near Equality at 8:45 p. m.

Injured were Henry LaFayette Jr., 32, and his wife, Dorothy Pauline, 28, of Newburgh, Ind., formerly of Harrisburg, and Joseph Hopson, 56, of Equality Route 2.

State Policeman Michael Taggart, who with State Policeman James Fowler investigated the crash, said that LaFayette was driving east and Hopson was travelling west on Route 13 and the crash occurred when Hopson started to turn left toward Equality at the gravel road near the Pekin mine.

LaFayette and his wife were treated at Lightner hospital. He suffered head and arm bruises and Mrs. LaFayette facial cuts and a bruised leg. Hopson was taken to Ferrell hospital at Eldorado suffering a possible broken nose.

Midland Is Low Bidder on Virden Housing Project

Midland Construction Co. was low bidder to construct a forty-apartment housing project and administration building at Virden, Ill., and contracts are scheduled to be signed Sept. 21 with work to start the middle of October.

Midland's low bid was $419,960. This Harrisburg construction company is in the process of building a half million dollar housing project at Carlinville, Ill., with work about 20 per cent complete.

About 85 per cent complete is the McElvain Consolidated school building three miles north of Murphysboro, also being constructed by Midland.

Mrs. O. C. Hancock Seriously Injured While Stepping from Motorboat

Mrs. Clara Hancock of St. Louis, who with her husband, Dr. O. C. Hancock, had spent the past several weeks at their summer home in Stonefort, was seriously injured last week when she fell while stepping from a motorboat at Crab Orchard lake.

She suffered a broken leg and broken ribs and was in the Marion Memorial hospital until Saturday. She came to Harrisburg Saturday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes, then was taken to St. Louis Sunday.

Mrs. Hancock is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Barnes and of Judge L. M. Hancock.

No Presidential Ambitions

Stevenson Criticizes Faubus' Handling of Integration Dispute

CHICAGO (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson Sunday night criticized Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus' handling of the Little Rock integration dispute, and said he had no further presidential ambitions.

Stevenson, twice defeated Democratic presidential candidate and former Illinois governor, said he was "deeply grieved" by the situation in Little Rock.

"It appeared to me that here was a case where the National Guard was called out to prevent compliance with the law rather than to enforce it," Stevenson said.

Stevenson appeared on a national television program in his first public appearance since returning from a summer business and pleasure trip to Europe and Africa.

In other comments, Stevenson said the recent session of Congress showed responsibility in its accomplishments and said he thought "progress had been made at the London meetings" on world disarmament.

The Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956 denied he would seek the candidacy again in 1960.

"I am not a candidate. I will not be a candidate, and beside that, I'll not get it," Stevenson said. He called the idea of a presidential draft in 1960 "preposterous."

Concerning the Little Rock crisis,

Stevenson said it was difficult to understand why Faubus' guard was called out to preserve the peace. Instead, he said, it appeared the guard actually was creating most of the tension.

He recalled he spoke last year in Little Rock and at that time urged compliance of the U. S. Supreme Court decision on desegregation.

"I said then as I say now that I am against force ever being used in the segregation question," Stevenson continued. "That means force either to create integration or to continue segregation."

"A Supreme Court order can't be flouted with impunity," he said. "I won't accept that. However, I think that reason will prevail."

Has Explaining to Do

Eisenhower is Kissed by Two Women At Clubhouse While Mamie Is On Yacht

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—President Eisenhower probably had to establish who the woman was, Eisenhower was kissed again.

The blushing President said not a word when Mrs. George Guthro, of Providence, R. I., seized the opportunity to throw her arms around him and kiss him near the mouth. He broke away and made a beeline for his car.

Mrs. Guthro and Mrs. Flint had just come out of the club bar. They said later they were in Newport in connection with a meeting of the Builders' Iron Foundation. Mrs. Guthro only snickered when asked her age.

Some members of the fashionable country club were alarmed and apologetic because of the bustling in their handsome drawing room. One old-time member, his white flannel slacks and proper tattered shirt flapping in the breeze, raced up to reporters and asked they not inform the American public about the kissing ladies.

Faubus Stands Firm in Dispute With Courts

Civilians Bar Negroes at North Little Rock School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Enforcement of Federal Court integration orders was prevented here today by National Guard troops at one school and by grim-visaged civilians at another.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, in defiance of repeated mandates to permit the integration, stood by his guns in the most critical stage of opposition since the 1954 Supreme Court school decision.

Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Mann called Faubus a secessionist and warned that his desperate stand was the kind of kindling that set off the fires of the Civil War in 1861.

Although the nation's attention was directed to this normally moderate spot on the race subject, there were these other developments today:

—Nashville, Tenn., integrated its first grade under a gradual desegregation plan. Although there was no violence, a number of white parents began removing their children after 14 Negroes were admitted. Pickets were at all schools.

—White House Secretary James C. Hagerty announced in Newport, R. I., where President Eisenhower is vacationing, that an FBI report on the Little Rock crisis would be submitted during the day to Federal Judge Ronald M. Davies there.

—The President signed the civil rights bill, approved by Congress after violent objections from the South and a 24-hour filibuster by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.).

—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People petitioned U. S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan to enforce his year-old order calling for desegregation of Arlington County, Va., schools. Eight Negro children were turned away from county schools last week when they sought to enroll.

—Six Negroes attempted to gain admission to nearby North Little Rock high school this morning. They were bluntly repulsed by a stern white man, L. E. Stroud, who barred the entrance to the building while a jeering crowd of almost 500 students and adults pushed in close to lend him support.

"I've got a kid here, and I'm not going to let my kid go to school with any Negro," Stroud said, his feet spread wide, his arms

2 Autos Damaged In Collision on Route 45 Sunday

Two automobiles were extensively damaged, but there were no injuries in a collision about 5:30 p. m. Sunday on Route 45 near the Starlight Drive-In theatre.

The collision occurred, State Patrolman Adolph Sweat reports, when Mrs. Jerry Harmon of Oblong, driving north in a new Ford, started to pass another automobile, then saw an automobile driven by John K. Johnson of Norris City approaching.

Mrs. Harmon was unable to get completely back in her lane of traffic and the two automobiles sideswiped, Sweat stated.

Johnson was alone. With Mrs. Harmon was her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hurt of Urbana and Paul D. Finney, Oblong. All are students at the University of Illinois and had come to this area to look over the deer hunting prospects and told Patrolman Sweat they planned to come back when the bow-and-arrow deer hunting season came in.

There is a dip in the highway near the scene of the collision and Mrs. Harmon reported the oncoming automobile was hidden from sight in the dip when she started to pass, then came into view when she was almost along side the car in front.

The third automobile continued on and the driver is unknown.

Braves Lose Third Straight; Reds Defeat Cardinals, 5-4; White Sox Gain on Yankees

By United Press
Major league baseball historians already are calling 1957 "the year of the reluctant champs."

"Everybody 'knows' the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves 'can't' be overtaken but the two front-runners seem determined to prove figures can lie. With the pennants theirs for the taking, the Yankees have lost six of nine games and the Braves have dropped three straight."

The Chicago White Sox made the Yankees "pay" Friday night when they whipped the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3, after the world champs dropped a 4-3 decision to the Washington Senators. The White Sox' victory, achieved by a ninth-inning homer by pitcher Dixie Howell cut the Yankees' lead to 4-3 games.

Cubs Dump Braves
The Chicago Cubs scored five runs in the seventh inning to dump the Braves, 5-4, but the National League leaders retained their 6½-game lead because the Cincinnati Redlegs whipped the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3, and the Detroit Tigers downed the Cleveland Indians, 5-2, in other AL games while the Brooklyn Dodgers beat the New York Giants, 3-0, and the Pittsburgh Pirates shaded the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, in other NL activity.

Howell, a 37-year-old right hander from Bowman, Tex., connected for his game-winning homer after the White Sox had rallied from a 3-0 deficit to tie the score at 3-3 in the eighth. Howell was credited with his fifth win.

Coleman Muffs Throw
Second-baseman Jerry Coleman muffed a force-out throw with the bases filled and two out in the ninth to enable Washington's Bob Usher to score the winning run against the Yankees. Sal Maglie, in his first start for the Yankees yielded three runs and seven hits in six innings.

A two-run single by Chuck Tanner and a two-run single by Dale Long sparked the Cubs' big inning which brought Bob Rush his fifth win and Bob Trowbridge his fifth setback.

Pinch-hitter Jerry Lynch walloped a three-run homer in the sixth inning to give the Redlegs their victory and enable them to tie the NL mark of 10 pinch home runs in a season.

Catcher Pete Daley's run-scoring double in the ninth provided the Red Sox with their winning run and rookie Murray Wall with his third straight win.

Jim Bunning won his 17th game and hit a "double play" grounder that produced three runs on two Cleveland errors as the Tigers handed Early Wynn his 16th defeat.

Johnny Podres pitched his sixth shutout and 11th triumph as the Dodgers mathematically eliminated the Giants from the NL race. Elmer Valo homered and Carl Furillo and Gino Cimoli had two hits each for Brooklyn.

Hank Foiles homered with two out in the sixth inning to give the Pirates the lead and Ronnie Kline protected it the remainder of the way to score his seventh victory compared to 15 losses.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

Football is the topic of conversation these days in the larger schools, but a trip through Gallatin county Thursday, where none of the high schools play football, brought out a lot of basketball talk.

Equality principal and coach Tony Franc reports practically all of last year's cagers are back and he is looking forward to a successful season. Equality may issue a call for cross country runners soon, as basketball practice can't legally get under way until Oct. 1.

Ridgway coach Bob Dallas also is looking forward to a good year, with several of last year's players returning, including towering, high scoring Roger Suttner.

Dallas plans to play baseball during the remainder of September.

Darwin Valter, back as Shawneetown coach after a year's absence, isn't sure just what his prospects are, but is sure of one thing. They aren't as good as they were his other year at Shawneetown—1955-56—when the team raced along unbeaten until the sectional tournament.

One of the mainstays of that great team—Al Gunzel—was talking with Coach Valter when I stopped at the high school and states he is all ready to begin his sophomore year at Tulane University. He will return to the university Sept. 15.

Gunzel played on the Tulane freshman team and is considered a sure bet to make the varsity squad and given a better than even chance to grab a berth on the starting five.

A teammate who also attended Tulane as a freshman—Jack Nolen—doesn't plan to return. He has been working this summer in the northern part of Illinois and will remain in the ranks of the employed.

Joe Wendryhoski, strong man from West Frankfort, apparently will be the only sophomore to get a starting assignment on the University of Illinois football team.

At present the 6-2, 205-pound Wendryhoski is considered the number one center. His defensive ability and speed has been particularly impressive.

Another southern Illinois sophomore candidate — Lindell Lovellette of Eldorado—has been switched from a guard to tackle and the change is referred to as "key" switch in a Champaign News-Gazette story.

The story says, in part, "The Lovellette switch will be a strengthening of the tackle position. The big, 223-pounder was rated one of the top freshman line prospects last fall. He has uncanny speed for a big man..."

First injury reported in the Hermin high school camp was by Head Coach Bob Hutchison. Hutchison suffered a broken toe when a player stepped on his foot. The coach was wearing canvas shoes, no match for the cleats worn by the player.

Dick Lehr, former Carrier Mills coach now at Fairfield, and at Bridgeport the past few years, will get a quick opportunity to see how his new school stacks up against a former one in football.

Although Lehr went to Fairfield as head cage coach, he also will assist in football and first game of the season pits present school—Fairfield—against last year's school—Bridgeport.

Adams Working Eagles for Grid Opener Friday

Afternoon Workouts, Scrimmage at Night For Marion Tilt

Eldorado coach Al Adams is working his varsity footballers hard in an effort to get them at top condition for the opening game of the season—less than a week away.

Adams has been running his charges through a brisk workout in the afternoon after school, then giving them a long scrimmage under the lights at night.

Friday three regulars were on the injured list, with one definitely out for the first two or three weeks of the season, the status of another doubtful and the third expected to be ready to go soon.

Carl Justice, quarterback, has a shoulder separation, suffered in a scrimmage. Justice says he will be ready to play "in the Harrisburg game." That is the third game on the Eagles' schedule, Sept. 27. Adams isn't that optimistic.

James Wood, star end and co-captain, is still bothered with a knee that was injured late in the finale at Metropolis last year.

A special type of brace has been fitted to the knee and Woods was getting around fairly well Friday, but although Woods expresses confidence in his ability to play coaches and fans are doubtful.

Fred Pool, center, was playing without pads and kept out of contact play, but his injury isn't looked on as serious and he should be ready to go in a hurry.

On the brighter side is the fine running of returning backfield aces Lester Feuouav and Jerry Rains, along with Leonard Willis, an end converted to halfback and Jack Fowler and Chuck McCallister, up from the 1956 reserve team.

Fowler has taken over the quarterbacking since Justice was injured. Rains is fullback, Feuouav, co-captain, is a halfback and McCallister and Willis also have been running from a halfback position. Several others with experience, either as reserve varsity or regular frosh-soph play last year, are working hard for backfield berths.

Bernard Goodley is a returning tackle who is looking exceptionally good and probably will handle the punting. Thornton Davis, Dwight Laffoon, Ronnie Hall, Ronnie Rains, Tom Baugher, Gary Reasons and Randy Scates are among a large number of good prospects coming up from last year's "B" team.

Eldorado opens at Marion next Friday night.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

There are several very basic rules of the road to be followed when traveling the open highway which some motorists fail to observe.

When motoring on wide highways, the driver should always keep his vehicle in line, keeping to the right except when passing. Lanes should be changed only when passing or when preparing to make a turn. Lines should not be straddled.

Other vehicles should be followed at a safe distance. At least one car length should be allowed for every 10 miles per hour of speed. Drivers should not increase their speed when other vehicles attempt to pass them.

All turns should be made from the proper lane. Right hand turns should be made from the lane nearest that side of the road, while left hand turns should be made from the lane next to the center line. Arm or mechanical signals should be used for turns and for stopping and slowing down.

Highest average (or mean) annual temperature in the United States is at Tavernier, Florida, 77.3 degrees Fahrenheit.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Phillips (Foster Studio Photo)

One of the loveliest summer weddings in Vienna united Miss Carmen Avery and Wayland Phillips Sunday, August 18, at 2 p. m. at the First Methodist church there. Miss Avery is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Avery of Vienna, and Mr. Phillips is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brose Phillips of Harrisburg.

The altar was decorated with twin candelabra and banked with pink and white gladioli and greenery. Miss Avah Phillips, Harrisburg, sister of the bridegroom, played traditional organ music before the ceremony and accompanied Miss Anne Endsley, also of Harrisburg, who sang "Oh, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly," and, as a benediction, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Philippine hand-made gown, the bodice of which was re-embroidered Chantilly lace with long tapered sleeves, and secured at the wrists and neck by tiny rows of crystal buttons. The floor length skirt was of illusion over net and eggshell satin. The overskirt of illusion was gold embroidered on chantilly lace which draped the skirt and flowed into a long train. Train bearers were a young friend, Miss Susan Reynolds, and the bride's nephew, Master Jimmie Ray Avery. Her father Jimmie Ray Avery. Her father

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Church of God met at the home of Mrs. Ethel Keneipp Thursday night. The service was opened with prayer, led by Mrs. Ethel Fisher. Miss Beulah Lievers gave a review of the book "Being a Christian in Race Relations," which the group is using as a study course. She pointed out the facts that all men are created equal and that God is no respecter of persons. The business meeting, which followed, was conducted by Mrs. Gladys Aldridge, president. The meeting was concluded by a devotion, presented by Mrs. Ethel Fisher.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. Those attending were: Mrs. Margie Alexander, Mrs. Anna Rhine and granddaughter, Mrs. Ethel Fisher, Mrs. Bess Aldridge, Mrs. Gladys Aldridge, Mrs. Emma Hibbs, Miss Beulah Lievers, Miss Marianne Alexander, Mrs. Verna White, Mrs. Elsie Dudley.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Miss Beulah Lievers.

Family Guests In Mrs. J. A. Musgrave Home

Sunday visitors in the home of Mrs. J. A. Musgrave, 207 East Dayton street, Harrisburg, were her brothers, Paul L. Trovillion and Hal V. Trovillion with their wives, Brownfield; sisters and families, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Heaton, New Burnside, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Baker, Golconda; nieces, Mrs. John McCartney, Metropolis, and Mrs. Geo. B. Lee, Harrisburg; nephews, Sam Heaton, Nokomis, and Ned Trovillion, with Mrs. Trovillion and a grand nephew, Robert Walter, Golconda.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

What God hath cleansed call not thou common. Acts. 10:15.

In ancient days when swine fed on garbage they spread disease widely. In civilized Christian lands swine are fed clean food and are not scavengers and health laws prevent the sale of contaminated meat and food of all kinds. Properly inspected oysters are safe food also.

Spending and Inflation

William Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, had some sober words of caution the other day on the subject of inflation. He warns us not to try to do too much too fast.

Basically America today is in a period of expansion, but the present is not a boom phase. Some parts of the economy are moving ahead, others are lagging. In Martin's view, these mixed trends produce imbalances which must be brought into adjustment if we are to avoid trouble.

He noted, for instance, that total U. S. output went up 10 billion dollars last year but half of that increase represented simply higher prices rather than greater production of goods and services.

He suggested that some enterprises may be expanding too rapidly and thus developing temporary overcapacity.

To Martin, curbing inflation is an elemental matter of reducing spending and boosting savings. By this process, money goes out of circulation and the pressures on the price structure are eased.

He thinks we've had too much spending recently in relation to savings, but there are signs we may now be heading toward a better balance which could lessen inflationary dangers.

Americans always have been great anticipators. If the long-range trend is toward expansion, they like to spend the money now for what lies ahead.

What Martin seems to be saying is that we will all be better off, that the economy will keep in better balance, if we don't try to spend today what we ought to keep in our pocketbooks until tomorrow.

And that goes both for the ordinary consumer and the enterpriser eager to put up another batch of factories.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is touring the Mediterranean, his column is written by his junior partner.)

JACK ANDERSON Says: Story of Successful Atlas Was False Alarm; Army Inspector General Almost Muffed Nickerson Investigation; Nickerson's Boss Threatened With Court-Martial, Too.

WASHINGTON — The report that America beat Russia into the air with a successful intercontinental ballistic missile, supposedly fired 2,400 miles over the Atlantic, is unfortunately mistaken.

The Air Force has tested only one Atlas, which began wobbling in flight and was destroyed by a ground safety officer before it shot out of sight. Our only other ICBM, the Titan, is still under construction in Denver. It probably won't be ready for testing until the first of next year.

Strictly speaking, the Air Force developed the first intercontinental missile a year ago. This was the subsonic Snark, a winged missile, which can be shot down by jet fighters and is already considered obsolete.

Each experimental Atlas is known inside the Air Force by its number. No. 2 is now mounted in its launching stand at Cape Canaveral, Fla., waiting to be fired. The trigger date, of course, is top secret.

What might have been mistaken for a successful Atlas was the X-17, a three-stage missile that the Air Force has been using to blaze trails for the Atlas along the edge of space. Four stories tall, the X-17 has been fired to tremendous heights to duplicate conditions the Atlas will encounter.

Meanwhile, the Russians definitely are known to be testing multiple-stage missiles in the Arctic.

These missiles are specially designed to be launched in frigid climates—ominous news—since the polar route is the shortest distance to American targets. Russia has at least 20 major bases, each with a string of 20 or more launching sites, scattered along her northern fringes.

NICKERSON STORY

Inside story can now be told of how the Army's heavy-handed inspector general, Lt. Gen. David Ogden, almost muffed the investigation of Col. John Nickerson.

Ogden started out to find how Drew Pearson got a memo containing classified information on guided missiles. Before Ogden realized it, he had stirred up the most controversial court-martial since Gen. Billy Mitchell was drummed out of the Army for championing air power.

The mysterious memo writer turned out to be a young West Pointer, Colonel Nickerson, who was formally charged with giving away military secrets.

His commanding officer, Maj. Gen. John Medaris of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., became panicky and started calling the Pentagon to protect himself. At one point, Lt. Gen. Thomas Hickey, Third Army commander, threatened to court-martial Medaris if he didn't stop meddling in the case. Here are the backstage details:

Nickerson's memo, blistering Secretary of Defense Wilson for limiting Army missiles to 200 miles, somehow fell into Drew Pearson's hands. He submitted it to the Pentagon and asked for: (1) The Air Force's side of the controversy and (2) security advice.

BRUCKER GETS SORE

Instead of replying, Secretary of Defense Wilson confiscated the memo and turned it over to Deputy Secretary Reuben Robertson.

It lay on Robertson's desk for 10 days before the Army got wind of it.

Then Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker stormed into Robertson's office and demanded to know why he hadn't been consulted. He angrily accused Robertson of playing footsie with the rival Air Force. Brucker also cussed out Pearson.

Before Brucker left, he took custody of the memo and immediately ordered the inspector general to find out who leaked to Pearson. The trail pointed to Huntsville, Ala., so General Ogden personally flew there. He threatened and bullied until he discovered who wrote the memo.

By this time, Ogden had dug up enough evidence to warrant a court-martial. But he had used such roughshod methods to uncover what he thought was a simple news leak that he had violated Colonel Nickerson's legal rights.

He also had not taken formal statements nor advised witnesses of their rights. As a result, the court-martial almost blew up before it got off the ground.

STRAIT-LACED GENERAL

The Third Army took over jurisdiction at this point. Stern, erect General Hickey the commanding general, scrupulously avoided consulting the Pentagon about it. Finally, Secretary Brucker summoned him to Washington to report on how the case was progressing.

General Hickey marched into Brucker's office and delivered this formal announcement: "I am not here to receive instruction," he said stiffly. "I am here to give a progress report."

Brucker was so flabbergasted that he sat back meekly and listened to the report. All he ever asked was whether Hickey needed legal advice.

To get that advice, Hickey later phoned the judge advocate general, Maj. Gen. George Hickman. But the Third Army commander carefully confined his questions to points of law, banned down the receiver after getting his answers.

He told the Pentagon so little that the Army brass had to follow developments in the newspapers. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Army chief, privately favored soft-pedaling the court-martial. He feared Nickerson's lawyers would challenge Wilson's judgment, and, in effect, put the secretary of defense on trial. Taylor felt this would only antagonize Wilson and hurt the Army's cause.

But at no time did the Army chief try to tell Hickey how to conduct the court-martial. Hickey decided on his own to let Nickerson plead guilty to a lesser charge.

Only General Medaris went crying to the Pentagon, and he was promptly shut up by Hickey's threat to court-martial him.

Decorative Lighting
CHICAGO (AP)—The decorative lighting business, which in the past has enjoyed sales mainly at Christmas time, is becoming a year round industry.

Albert V. Sadacca, executive director of Glolite Corp., said today's trend toward outdoor living and the popularity of indoor gardens have opened up a whole new field for decorative lighting.

Sadacca predicted that Americans will spend $5,000,000 this summer to light up their yards, porches and gardens. This amounts to five per cent of the total spent on Christmas lighting last year, Sadacca said.

Backyard barbecue pits, outdoor parties in suburban areas, and the craze for home swimming pools are responsible for the upsurge in the need for extra lighting, Sadacca added.

Owen just stared at me, his eyes excited. Then he waddled past and went into the harness room. I knew better than to try to get it out of his stubborn head if he didn't want to say. Him and his playful nature, I thought. I headed for the loft ladder and clambered up. Sure enough, somebody had lit the lamp in my room. I walked over to the door and stepped in side. I had a visitor, all right. Stood up, sat down or squatting, Dan Clement was big. Sitting in my chair, as he was now, he look

I heard the door slam behind us. We turned. Cole Jethroe stepped down off the porch and came out to the street. Smiling, he said, "Any more questions, marshal?" Blanchard nodded. "Plenty. But they'd be a waste of time."

"Then I thank you for your consideration. Just a word of advice, marshal. Barney's widow has had a hard time. You've seen the boy, of course. She has troubles enough without being involved in yours. Don't perch on her doorstep."

Cole wheeled to leave. Blanchard said, "Just a minute, Jethroe." Cole stopped. Blanchard said, "If I want you, where might I find you?"

"At the hotel. If not there, no telling."

"One more thing. Next time you visit the Clements, tell them I want Dorsey, alive and well, by tomorrow night at midnight. Have them send him in to the hotel, to me. Tell them I'll put him on the train then and the whole thing will be over. If they don't do that, I'll have 40 men from the marshal's office out here on the next train. If they kill Pete, I'll stay in Blue Springs myself until I get the evidence to hang them, if it takes the rest of my life."

Blanchard's words rubbed cold on my backbone. Only a crazy man would doubt that he meant it all. But Cole didn't bat an eye. Then a thin smile wrinkled the white skin around his mouth. He said, "Marshal, stop it. You can't drag me into this. Deliver your own messages."

Lillian came out onto the front porch. Blanchard walked to her and I followed. She looked down Depot St., where Cole Jethroe was just turning the corner.

Blanchard said, "What did he want?"

Lillian shrugged. "Nothing. Just wanted to say hello, to make sure we were all right, he said."

"What do you think he wants here?"

"I don't know. Cole is strange. I never got to know him well. He was very close to Barney. I think he resented my marrying him."

"Anything else?"

"He wants me to keep away from you. He said it was important that I have nothing to do with you."

"Lillian, I think Cole is running this thing. I think when it's over, he'll ask you to go back to Chicago with him."

Lillian said, "Oh . . ."

"I'm not sure of that," Blanchard said. "Don't worry about it if you don't want to go. If you need help, if you have anything to tell me, I'll be at the hotel or Hewitt will know where I am."

Harvesting Lure Not What It Used to Be

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—"Fried chicken three times a day and pretty girls"—just an echo of the harvest past for the men in the motorized combine age this year in Kansas wheat fields.

A newspaper dated July, 1912, dug out of the fields at the Kansas Historical Society here, showed that harvest hands at Hutchinson, Kan., were offered:

"High wages, short hours, five meals a day, joy rides, chicken three times a day and pretty girls."

One newspaper account had it that a Meade County farmer lost his harvest hands at the height of the wheat season to a Pawnee County farmer who advertised the "best looking girls in Kansas."

Forty-five years ago, the wage scale was $2.50 to $4 a day. Today, the combine workers make about $12 or more a day.

FAVORS SCHOOL AID — Lawrence G. Derthick, above, U. S. commissioner of education, favors a federal aid for school construction bill, and says he will help to lead this fight at the side of President Eisenhower. The measure was recently rejected by Congress. Derthick rose to his present position from the superintendency of schools in Chattanooga.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

VFW Defeats McLeansboro, 8-7; to Play Norris City in Final Playoff

The Harrisburg VFW baseball team slugged out an 8-7 win over the McLeansboro Pirates on VFW field Sunday afternoon in the second round of the Oil Belt League playoffs. Harrisburg will meet Norris City, 8-3 winner over Cisne in a game that was also played Sunday. Harrisburg won its first round game, 1-0, at Springerton and McLeansboro clobbered Mt. Carmel, 20-1, at Mt. Carmel last Sunday.

The visitors picked up two runs in the 1st on Millinbine's single, Stover's double and Hall's triple. The locals came back and scored one in the 1st on Odle's double and Dallas's single. The VFW tied it up in the 2nd on a walk to Sisk, a sacrifice by Stout and Odle's second hit. McLeansboro bounced back and scored two in the 3rd when Robinson was safe on an error, Stover tripled, and Hall and Harper singled.

In the third Dallas led off with a triple and Romonosky drove him in with a line shot to left center. In the 4th the locals took a one run lead when Stout and Willis singled, both advanced on a passed ball and scored on Bob Dallas's hit. Stover with a single and Hall with a triple tied the game up in the 5th.

In the 7th the Pirates took a 2-run lead when Millinbine doubled, Stover was intentionally passed and Harper scored them both on a pop fly hit. In the 8th the VFW exploded for five hits and three runs when Odle and Guley hit back to back triples, Willis doubled, and Ziegler and Dallas singled.

Ronnie Ziegler made the play

Gophers One of Big Ten's Best Balanced Teams

Minnesota appeared today to have one of the Big Ten's best balanced football teams on the basis of weekend scrimmage sessions.

The Gophers' first team squeaked by the third squad 18-12 and the second unit downed the fourth 18-0 in Saturday's scrimmage. Coach Murray Warmath said he didn't know whether "I have an exceptionally well balanced squad or whether the first unit needs a lot more practice."

By contrast, Wisconsin's first two squads ran up a 68-0 score against the reserves, with sophomore quarterback Dale Hackbart passing for two tallies and scoring another. Halfback Danny Lewis scored three touchdowns.

Passes for Five Touchdowns

Purdue's two top offensive teams also went on a scoring binge with nine touchdowns, but the squad looked far from impressive during the game length scrimmage against reserves. Only two of the tallies came on the ground. Junior quarterback Bob Spoo passed for five touchdowns.

Illinois also took to the air, with the first and second units scoring six touchdowns each against third and fourth stringers. Quarterbacks Bill Offenbecher and Tom Haller passed for six of the scores.

Northwestern displayed a potent aerial and ground attack in its two hour scrimmage. Quarterback Chip Holcomb tossed a pair of touchdown passes and fullback Jim Thompson romped for a 60 yard tally.

Scrubs Jolt Iowa

Coach Forest Evashevski's first team got a jolt when the Iowa scrubs drove 80 yards for the first touchdown of the scrimmage session. The first team came back with three touchdowns, two of them sparked by substitute quarterback Olen Treadway.

Indiana's No. 1 squad defeated the reserves, scoring five touch-of the day when he went far down the left field line to rob Robinson of a bid for a Texas leaguer. Millinbine made two fine running catches for the visitors.

Don Stout pitched the complete game for the winners and Kreher and Deen divided pitching chores for the losers. The locals garnered 14 hits and the visitors got 10. An enthusiastic crowd was on hand Sunday to root for their favorite team.

New Herrin Coach Faces Rebuilding Task; Says Boys 'Just Don't Believe in Losing'

By SAM HANCOCK
United Press Sports Writer
HERRIN, Ill. (AP) — What sounds like a warning comes from Bob Hutchison, new head coach at Herrin High.

Herrin holds the state basketball championship and finished third in the tough South Seven football conference last year.

This year, the 32-year-old coach said, his Tigers teams are "going to play for the fun of it." "But one thing about that bunch of boys," Hutchison added, "they just don't believe in losing."

Hutchison is taking over from Earl Lee, who moved on to a better paying job at Cahokia to climax his Cinderella story at Herrin. Lee brought the state prep basketball diadem to the school in his first year as head coach.

Hutchison, who had been assisting Lee, said that he doesn't expect to win the state cage championship the first year and neither do his rabid fans.

"I'll be happy if we can win half of our football games," he said, "and I figure we may lose about six out of 22 basketball games."

But a look at the coaching record of Hutchison, the only alumnus ever to become head coach, discloses the quality of the teams Hutchison will field this year.

Two years ago, Hutchison guided the boys who are now seniors to undefeated seasons in basketball and football as sophomores.

The freshman-sophomore football team went 10-0 for the season and the cagers won 22 straight.

There have been personnel losses in the past two years, of course, and graduation has hurt both the football and basketball teams.

His biggest worry in football will be an adequate bench. Only seven lettermen are back from a team that finished 7-3 last year.

Make Own Training Rules

The basketball losses included All-America John Tidwell and Ivan Jefferson, who represented the team's principal height and scoring punch. Both have gone on to Big Ten schools. Tidwell to Michigan and Jefferson to Wisconsin.

Hutchison will have back Richard Box, Jim Gualdoni and Willie Williams from the state championship starting five.

Five are in the running for the other two starting spots—juniors Ron Ward and Ken Doughty, both 8-footers, and Terry Brandon, 6 feet 2 1/2 inches; 6-foot senior John Hendricks; and 6-foot 5-inch sophomore Gene Turni.

Hutchison, who was a 117-pound seatback on the Tiger football team, said the athletes themselves will enforce their own training rules.

"I'm going to re-institute the school's former H-Club," he said. "The club consists of letter winners. They are going to set the training rules and be the judge and jury if there are any infractions."

"I don't expect any infractions though," he added. "These boys are good trainers and good students and want to play ball. It's their ball club and they deserve the chance to help run it."

Cardinals Move to Within 5 1/2 Games of First Place; Yankees Extend Their Lead

By United Press
Jack Urban couldn't make the grade with the New York Yankees but he's a big reason today why the world champions figure to make the grade in the American League pennant race.

A 29-year-old, 155-pound right hander who went to Kansas City as part of the Yankees' deal for Enos Slaughter, Urban hurled a 13-inning, five-hitter Sunday to give the Athletics a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The loss dropped the White Sox 5 1/2 games behind the Yankees, who scored a 5-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved to within 5 1/2 games of first place in the National League when they beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 4-3, and the Chicago Cubs dumped the Milwaukee Braves, 5-3, in 10 innings. The White Sox are four games behind the Yankees in the "loss column" with 19 games to go while the Cardinals are six behind the Braves with 17 to go.

Urban Fans Eight

Urban struck out eight, yielded only one earned run and hurled no-hit ball for the last 8 2/3 innings to win his fifth decision. He also knocked in a run with one of his three hits.

Bobby Shantz rescued Tom Sturdivant in the ninth inning for the Yankees, who took a 3-0 lead in the second inning with the help of Gil McDougald's key double and added two insurance runs in the ninth. Roy Sievers singled home both Washington runs in the third to raise his runs batted in total to 101.

Wally Moon singled home the tying run and Al Dark popped a single to right field to drive in the winning tally for the Cardinals

downs to the scrubs' two. Outstanding in the Hoosier backfield were sophomore tailbacks Vic Jones and Ted Aucreman, sophomore fullback John Meegan and veteran wingback Jim Yore.

Ohio State's squad went through a rugged scrimmage session with junior Dick Lebeau a standout at halfback and junior Frank Kremblas the star quarterback.

who trailed, 3-0, into the last of the eighth.

Bob Will's single was the key blow in the Cubs' 10-inning rally that dealt the Braves their fourth defeat in five games.

Boxos Beat Orioles
The Boston Red Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles, 2-0, and the Detroit Tigers downed the Cleveland Indians, 3-1, in the other AL games while the New York Giants shaded the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-2, in the final game of the famous rivalry at the Polo Grounds and the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-2, after a 7-4 loss in other NL games.

Dick Gernett's two-run seventh-inning homer was all Mike Fornieles needed as he limited the Orioles to three hits to win his ninth game.

Billy Hoefst struck out seven and gained his eighth win for the Tigers, who took a 2-0 lead in the first inning with the help of Cal McLish's wildness. Gene Woodling hit his 18th homer of the year for the Indians.

Hank Sauer's two-run third inning homer enabled the Giants to end their cross-town rivalry with the Dodgers on a victorious note and Bob Smith pitched an eight-hitter to win his first game for the Pirates after the Phillies won the opener with a four-run rally in the ninth.

Ohio Man Wins Outboard Title At Mount Carmel

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP)—Bill Becker, 54, Vermilion, Ohio, won a world outboard motor championship after 24 years of trying.

Becker captured the title in the C-1 runabout class in two straight heats Sunday in the National Outboard Assn. finals on the Wabash River. An estimated 15,000 persons watched the races.

Bud Jones, Sioux City, Iowa, won the C-hydro class world title and Freddie Goehl, Quincy, Ill., took the F-hydro event.

The Tatum Trophy was awarded to Buck Kaufman, Sioux City, Iowa, and the Fox Trophy to Melvin Kirts, Elkhart, Ind.

Dieter Konig, West Berlin, Germany, came in second for the Fox Trophy in the free-for-all hydro competition.

Giants Lose Second Tilt

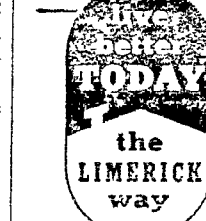

By United Press
If you're looking for an "early line" on the 1957 National Football League race, you won't find those scrambled exhibition results much help.

Monday morning experts could ponder today such items as the second loss in four games for the world champion New York Giants and an impressive victory over tough Baltimore by previously winless Washington as typical of a full week or so of pro gridiron play. In Sunday games, the Redskins ended a three game losing streak by whipping highly-touted Baltimore, 24-11; the Chicago Bears bounced back from a loss to the Giants to hand the winless Philadelphia Eagles their fifth straight defeat, 21-14; and the Pittsburgh Steelers handed the Detroit Lions their first loss, 20-14.

On Saturday, the San Francisco Forty-Niners downed the Chicago Cardinals, 27-21; and the Green Bay Packers surprised the Giants, 13-10. On Friday night, the Los Angeles Rams beat the Cleveland Browns, 20-14.

Russia Accused Of Interfering In West Germany

BONN, Germany (UP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government today sharply accused the Soviets of meddling in the West German elections.

Officials charged the latest Kremlin note to the Bonn government was designed to help the opposition Socialist Party at the election battle entered its final week. But they expressed confidence the Soviet maneuver would boomerang.

Adenauer in an election rally address at Bad Godesberg Sunday night asserted the Kremlin reply to a communication sent by Bonn more than four months ago "obviously was intended to support the Socialists."

"But it will not make the German voter give his vote to the Socialists next Sunday," the adamant pro-Western chancellor said.

The Kremlin had warned Bonn that reunification of Germany is out of the question unless West Germany pulls out of the Atlantic alliance. It accused the Adenauer government of turning West Germany into a base for atomic warfare.

actions in Moscow, Damascus and Cairo. Communist propaganda mills ground out an almost endless stream of invectives, accusing the United States of plotting "aggression" against leftist Syria. Similar charges were made in Damascus where the Syrian cabinet met into emergency session to discuss the situation.

A spokesman for the Department of State in Washington termed Russian and Syrian charges that the U. S. was planning aggression against Syria as "rubbish." He said it is "perfectly obvious it isn't so."

Deplores Arms Race

Asked if the Soviet and Syrian charges might be a cloak for aggressive designs on their part, the spokesman said: "That's one of the reasons we are sending arms."

Soviets Test Another A-Weapon

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that Russia tested another nuclear weapon "of moderate intensity" during the past two days.

It said the test appeared to be the second of a series started on Aug. 22.

The formal AEC announcement, by Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, follows:

"Within the past two days the Soviets have fired a nuclear weapons test of moderate intensity. This appears to be the second test of the series which began on Aug. 22."

Russia Will Not Win Missile Race, Quarles Says

NEW YORK (UP)—Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles said confidently today that Russia will not beat America in the intercontinental ballistic missile race.

He told the U. S. Conference of Mayors that this country credits the Soviets with substantial progress in long-range ballistic missile work.

But he belittled the Russian claim of Aug. 26 that an intercontinental ballistic rocket had been tested successfully. He said the Russian announcement created "an impression that substantially exceeded the truth."

"After examining all the evidence," Quarles said in a prepared speech, "I am confident that we will not be outdistanced in this so-called ballistic missile race."

Sterns Indicted By Federal Jury

NEW YORK (UP)—Martha Dodd Stern and her husband Alfred were indicted today by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to commit espionage for Soviet Russia.

The Sterns, now believed touring somewhere behind the Iron Curtain, face a possible death penalty if tried and convicted. Mrs. Stern is the daughter of the late William E. Dodd, ambassador to Germany from 1933 to 1938.

The Sterns had been fined $25,000 each for failure to appear before a special grand jury investigating subversion and espionage.

The couple had been living in Mexico but fled to Europe early in July when the Mexican government sought to return them to the United States for questioning.

Chris Doerner, 65, died at 11:45 a. m. Sunday at his home east of Norris City. He is survived by his wife, five sons and one daughter.

The body is in the care of the Cox funeral home in Ridgway and was taken to the family residence to lie in state. The funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Old Village Presbyterian church with Rev. Leo Walton officiating and burial will be in the church cemetery.

Little Rock Troops Again Halt Integration

folded across his burly chest. Stroud is a clerk for the Missouri Pacific Railroad and has a daughter in North Little Rock high.

The Negroes departed without further incident to plan their next move.

They were turned down for the official reason that the North Little Rock school board had postponed scheduled integration until things calmed down at nearby Little Rock.

The situation at North Little Rock was different from that at Little Rock. North Little Rock, a separate incorporated municipality, has had no court order for integration as was the case in Little Rock. The next move of the Negroes there apparently would be a formal petition to North Little Rock for admission.

North Little Rock Mayor A. C. Perry sided with the governor on the issue of resisting integration.

"We have to protect our people, both white and colored," Perry said.

At Little Rock's Central High School, a crowd gathered at the opening of classes but dispersed soon when it became obvious there would be no racial problem there today.

National Guard troops again ringed that school, however, to prevent integration.

Faubus appeared on a national television network news conference Sunday night to state more firmly than ever that he was determined to prevent integration of Little Rock schools at this time.

The governor insisted that: "He does not oppose integration and that in fact his own son, Farrell Faubus, is enrolling today at an integrated college."

"He feels the federal government's 'only alternative' is to give in to the state in the present situation."

"He has support from other states in his fight and could get 'militia volunteers' should the Arkansas National Guard be federalized into the U. S. Army because of his defiance."

Civil Rights Measure Signed By Eisenhower

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—President Eisenhower today signed the civil rights bill and then awaited developments in Little Rock, Ark., where the school integration issue reached a new boiling point.

The President signed the bill without comment. "I think the President's views on this bill are very well known," said White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

Shortly before the President signed the civil rights bill in his small summer White House office on the Newport Navy base, Hagerty said that an investigative report, prepared by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on "the facts" of the integration impasse in Little Rock, would be submitted during the day to Federal District Judge Ronald N. Davies.

The President signed the bill at 8:10 a. m. and then left his office to play golf at the Newport Country Club. He used six pens to affix his signature to the legislation.

He wrote on the bottom of the bill, "Approved, Dwight D. Eisenhower, 9 September 1957, U. S. Naval Base, Newport, R. I."

The measure signed by the President this morning was a voting rights bill with several fringe features.

It provides for a federal civil rights commission to investigate rights violations throughout the country and a new assistant attorney general to handle civil rights matters.

It also carries a clause repealing a Reconstruction Era law authorizing the President to use federal troops to enforce civil rights.

The law does not give the federal government new powers to enforce racial equality other than in voting rights. All broad authority, proposed in the original bill, was eliminated by the Senate's amendments.

In such civil rights issues as the Little Rock school integration deadlock, the new laws adds the new investigative commission and the assistant attorney general for civil rights. Neither will have any powers not already vested in the federal government.

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Cool Weather Brings Bass Catches

By Pete Brown
(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation)

Cooling water temperatures have nudged bass out of the depths in most southern Illinois fishing areas, prompting a general switch-over to surface and medium-running lures.

At Crab Orchard this week, Henry Schroeder of the SIU staff landed a six and one-half pounder. Other catches ranging from three to six pounds have been reported by Henry Borger, Nick Masters, and Al Peithmann, all of Carbondale.

Peppering the surface with poppers and floating bass plugs, Little Grassy Lake anglers have netted some fair largemouth catches during the first week of September, although crappie fishing is still the best shot across the board. One couple netted 170 crappie last Sunday.

Bass fishermen, Ed Leffler, of East St. Louis, victimized 10 two-pounders with a fly rod popper, while Fred Creiger, of Belleville, hung the week's prize, a six and one-quarter pounder on a Lucky 13 John Goss, also of Belleville, went trolling with a Heddon Sonic and boated three totalling nine pounds. The water at Grassy is quite clear.

A six pound bass, largest ever recorded at Harrisburg City Lake represented the week's best of fort there. Smaller bass are still hitting with voracious abandon and several limit catches have been reported. Fishermen generally troll over the lake until hooking a bass, then lay down a barrage of casts in the area. Catfishing has slowed.

Bluegill and redear activity is on the upswing again at Lake Murphysboro where the after-effects of a seasonal turnover have diminished. Howard Teller, of Granite City, and Joe Pulche, of East Carondelet, each hooked 80 on worms, the best bait at the present. Floyd Hicks, Herrin, boated 30 Bass plugging has been slow, with artificial red worms credited with the largest measure of success.

Carbondale reservoir is now rewarding its tolerant fans with some good sport in the late afternoon and evening hours. Two and three pound bass are smacking River Runts along the length of the levee, and Jim Carter, of Carbondale, running a spot check for the "Guide," defeated a five and one-quarter pound bass with an artificial black worm. Bluegill fishing is off and jug-running has been unproductive.

Sixty-three bass were taken, mostly on minnows, at Pinckneyville City Lake Sept 1 and all signs point to continued good fishing. Crappie, while not being caught in spectacular numbers, are running good sized. Bluegill, an also-ran species most of the summer, have started sitting worms. Minnows are the best bass bait.

Fishing at Horseshoe Lake has been somewhat slow, but steady. A four pounder taken on a Hell diver by an Olive Branch angler was the best bass catch of the week.

The Cache River (checked one mile from Perks) has afforded some spirited bluegill play of late, with the majority of catches being recorded at the edge of brush growths. Crappie, averaging eight to 10 inches, are responding in fair numbers.

Lake Sahara is as quiet as it has been since early spring, with all reports indicating below average success. The lake is low but in fine condition.

Out of county fishermen have been ruled strictly "verboten" on Lake Benton because of heavy utilization straining the policing and sanitation facilities of the city. Not supported by taxes, the lake is operated "incidental to the Benton water utility," and water department revenue has suffered. Only "bona fide" residents of Franklin county may now use the lake and adjoining recreation center.

"I know I need more Life Insurance, but how can I afford it?"

HAVE you ever had this thought? Have you ever wondered how your wife could keep the family together if something should happen to you? This question faces most men while their children are growing up.

We believe that you will find the answer to this question in the Metropolitan Family Income Plan. This plan is designed to furnish the extra income needed to take care of your children until they have finished their education or are getting started in life.

The plan combines regular insurance with a special income provision which can be fitted to your particular circumstances and family needs. Here are some of its important features:

1. You choose the amount of monthly income needed—$100 a month, $200, $300 or more.
2. If you should die at any time within 20 years—while your children are growing up—the Metropolitan Family Income Plan will provide the income you arrange to be paid to your family each month for the remainder of the 20 years. Then the face amount of the policy will be paid in cash.

3. If you should live beyond 20 years, when the income provision is no longer in effect, your family will still have continuing protection for the face amount of the policy.

For your own peace of mind, why not get the complete details of the Family Income Plan from your Metropolitan Representative? He will be more than happy to explain it to you, and demonstrate that...

6 years ago during the negotiations which brought "I Love Lucy" to home screens.

He had a couple of good reasons. Lucille Ball, fiery one-time movie glamor doll, and her husband, fidgety Cuban bandleader Desi Arnaz, insisted on filming the show in Hollywood, with an audience, while CBS wanted it live in New York. "No film, no show," said Desi, having a clear vision of the future.

"Right," said Lucille, who cut her teeth on celluloid.

The network agreed on the film idea, with the audience, but continued to worry about Desi. Lucille and Richard Denning had been playing husband and wife on CBS radio in "My Favorite Husband" and the newly born CBS-TV eye had its first irritating cinder.

"Who will believe that Lucy is married to a Cuban bandleader?"

The Emmy awards nomination committee still doesn't believe it, I guess, because Desi wails that he hasn't ever been nominated for anything. As a matter of fact, he laughs, "I've never even been on the list of people eligible for nominations." Only the show and Lucy, as a personality, have won Emmys.

But you'll have to admit Desi is rather well known today as a Cuban bandleader married on and off screen, to Lucille Ball. In Hollywood he's even better known, along with Lucille, as the telefilm industry's first millionaire.

Those first "I Love Lucy" audience howls that rang the TV applause bells six years ago have given Lucy and Desi their own telefilm studio which today turns out more film annually than six of Hollywood's major studios combined.

Lucy and Desi aren't just TV stars.

Their Desilu productions have made them the first TV tycoons.

This explains why they can afford to quit as weekly show champs "while we're ahead" to concentrate this season on only five one-hour shows.

The new format will be a generous helping of typical "I Love Lucy" half-hour films to CBS for $5,000,000. In the big money league, here is a current look at Desilu productions, launched in 1951 with Lucy, Desi, eight employees and one rented stage.

Today's employees add up to 1,000 with Desilu telefilms working on 16 stages. Ten are on their own lot.

Telefilm shows produced by Desilu include: "Sheriff of Cochise," "December Bride," and "Whirlbirds," with these new shows due this season "This Is Alice," starring nine-year-old Patty Ann Gerrity; "Official Detective," "The Last Marshal," starring James Craig, "The Whiting Girls," which unreel on home screens this summer with a good chance of being on this fall, and "The Walter Winchell File" a crime series.

Shows filmed by Desilu include, "The Danny Thomas Show," "Wire Service," "Wyatt Earp," the new Eve Arden show, Walter Brennan's new series, "The Real McCoys," a new western series, "The Californian," "Lineup," "Meet McGraw," starring Frank Lovejoy, "Jim Bowie," with Scott Forbes, Red Skelton's filmed shows, and "Date With the Angels."

In addition to owning their own studio, their early faith in film has given Lucy and Desi a home in Beverly Hills, another in Palm Springs, ownership of a Palm Springs hotel with a nine hole golf course, and a stable of four race horses. Lucy was "Operation Success."
